PREFATORY NOTE

DELAY in the publication of the second volume of the Festi is almost entirely owing to the abnormal conditions occasioned by the War. During the past year, although most of the work was in type, advantage has been taken to incorporate a considerable amount of fresh information, and this has been continued to the date of issue.

The Editorial Committee desire to acknowledge deep indebtedness to Clerks of the different Presbyteries, for much valued aid in the preparation of this volume. The Committee have received assistance also from a multiplicity of sources which it would be invidious—indeed impossible—to detail. Every exertion has been made to render the work as complete and as accurate as possible.

21st April 1917.

SYNOD OF MERSE AND TEVIOTDALE

THE Synod Records from April 1639 to April 1661, in three volumes, and a volume from July 1690 to October 1707, were destroyed at the burning of the manse of Morebattle, 8th Jan. 1727. The Records are complete from 6th April 1708.

PRESBYTERY OF DUNS

[Proposed to be erected by the General Assembly, 1581. The Register commences 8th Nov. 1659, and is continued to the present time, with blanks from 24th July 1660 to 7th May 1661, 31st July 1688 to 15th Sept. 1690, 21st Aug. 1733 to 14th April 1735, and 6th Oct. 1749 to 6th March 1770. From 7th Aug. 1690 to 19th Oct. 1698 this Presbytery was united to that of Chirnside. Each Presbytery has a copy of the minutes of this period. The parish of Hilton was in this Presbytery from 22nd Oct. 1707 to 1719.]

ABBAY ST BATHANS AND STRAFONTAIN, OR TREFONTAINE.

[These two parishes were united soon after the Reformation. Abbey St Bathans is named from its patron, Saint Bathan, second Abbot of Iona. There being a better known church of St Bathan at Yester, this one came to be called Abbey St Bathans, i.e. St Bathans belonging to the Abbey of Dryburgh, which had extensive possessions in the neighbourhood. St Bathan's Well was near the church. Towards the end of the thirteenth century, Ada, Countess of Dunbar, a natural daughter of William the Lion, founded here a priory of Cistercian nuns, dedicated to St Mary. Strafentain, called also Trefontaine, was evidently dedicated to St Fintan. Its two names are formed from his, with the Cymric words Ystred and tref, both meaning hamlet (Ystred Fintain; Tref Fintain). In 1450 Strafountain was made a prebend of the Collegiate Church of St Mary at Dunglass. Near the church of Strafontain was founded in 1218 the hospital of Godscroft.]

WILLIAM COLVILL, reader in 1567 1567.

NICOL SUDDIE [SUTTIE], reader 1574 in 1574.

MATHEW LIDDELL, reader at 1591 Whittingchame and Tynninghame in 1570; min. at Cranshaws in 1572; trans. to Ellem in 1585; trans. and adm. in 1591; on 7th May 1608 he granted a discharge to John Renton of Billie for 34s., being four terms' rent for the Nunmeadow of Billie at St Bathans.—[Reg. Assig.; Milne Home MSS., 189.]

GEORGE REDPATH [RIDPATH], 1624 M.A. (Edinburgh, 1st Aug. 1590); min. of Ellem in 1596; trans. to Bunkle in 1599, but again at Ellem in 1607. He was trans. to this charge by 1624, and died in April 1628, aged about 58. His widow raised an action against his successor as to the ann, when the Lords found, 16th June 1629, "that the late min. having died before the term, no part of the stipend was due for that year, and could not be claimed by his relict and heirs but as ann and no other wise, and that they should seek nothing of crop 1629." [Stat. Reports, 1627; Durie's Dec.; Morison's Dict.; Reg. Sc. Sig.]

THOMAS SWINTON, M.A.; pres. by 1628 Charles I. 31st May 1628, and adm. soon after; trans. to Edrom in 1649.

1650 1650. He conformed, was pres. by Charles II. 4th, and coll. 20th Oct. 1662; trans. to Cockburnspath 2nd Nov. 1663.

JAMES COCKBURN, son of Henry C., 1664 min. of Channellkirk; M.A. (Edinburgh, May 1653); licen. by George, Bishop of Edinburgh, 5th Nov. 1662; pres. by Charles II. 17th Feb., ord. and coll. 22nd April, adm. and inst. 26th May, all in 1664; trans. to Pencaitland after 21st May 1674. [Min. book Reg. Sc. Sig., v.; Apology for the Clergy.]

JAMES DUNBAR, grandson of Alexander D. of Boath; M.A. (King's College, Aberdeen, 1647); chaplain to the Laird of Innes in 1651; tutor to the Master of Duffus; licen. by Presb. of Elgin 29th Aug. 1655; became min. of Watten before 1658; of Mertoun after 1667; pres. by Charles II. 16th Sept. 1674; adm. 12th Jan. 1675; deprived for refusing the Test in 1681; died at Edinburgh, 17th March 1684, aged about 65. He marr. (1) Katherine Brodie, and had issue—Alexander, W.S., 1682; Mary (marr. 6th June 1703, David, son of William Monro of Culraigie); (2) Lillias Monro (buried in Greyfriars, 7th Aug. 1694), and had issue—Lillias, buried 1st May 1693. [Min. book Reg. Sc. Sig., v.; Ellon Sess. Reg.; Edin. Mar. Reg.; Greyfriars Burials; Geneal. of Dunbar; Gen. Reg. Sas., xvi.]

ROBERT BOWMAKER, probably son 1682 of James B., portioner of Hutton; M.A. (Edinburgh 1675); pres. by Charles II. 17th Feb., and adm. 1st June 1682. He did not take the oath to the Government, but was allowed to continue after the Revolution, and died 29th May 1697, aged about 12. [Min. book Reg. Sc. Sig., v.; Old Dec., i.; MS. Acc. of Min., 1689.]

GEORGE HOME, M.A. (Glasgow, 18th 1689 July 1672); entered the Divinity Hall there, 13th Oct. 1692; licen. by Presb. of Kelso 23rd Jan. 1694; ord. to Selkirk 25th Sept. 1694; trans. and adm. 28th Feb. 1699; died 22nd Sept. 1705, aged about 54. He marr. Jean Hamilton, who died 22nd Dec. 1719, aged 64, and had issue—Ninian. His widow left 1000 merks "for maintaining a schoolmaster in this place." [Lauder Tests; Tombst.; Boston's Memoirs.]

GEORGE HUME of Abbey St Bathans, 1707 probably son of George H. of the same (who died July 1693), and his wife, a daugh. of Patrick Hepburn of Nunraw; M.A. (Edinburgh 1683); licen. by United Presb. 28th May 1691; called to Ayton 18th Sept., and ord. 23rd Oct. 1694. In March 1698 he was called to Abbey St Bathans, but this was departed from. He was again called 18th July 1706; adm. 7th Jan. 1707; died March 1718, aged about 55. He marr. BUNKLE, OR BONKILL, AND PRESTON.

[These parishes were united by the Presb. and by direction of Parliament in 1621. Both belonged to the Bishopric of Dunkeld, and Bunkle was a mensal church of the Bishop. In 1660 the choir was in ruins, and no communion service could be held. Bunkle Church was used for service till the Synod of Dunkeld ordered service to be held only at Preston, which order was ratified by the Commissioners of Teinds on 10th February 1669. The people of Bunkle refused to go to Preston, and attended conventicles; in 1688 the minister preached alternately in the two churches. In 1718, after an extensive repair, Bunkle Church was recognised as that of the parish. It was entirely rebuilt in 1820. A small semicircular Norman apse marks the site of the ancient building, believed to be of the twelfth century.]

Preston Church was built apparently in the thirteenth century, but fell into ruin after 1718. In 1671 the minister was ordered to hasten the completion of the church. In 1683 the windows were ordered to be "glassed." It is said that the bell of the church was thrown into a pool in the Blackadder by the people when they rabbled Nicolson in 1689.]

JOHN BLACK [BLAKE], exhorter in 1607 1607.

WILLIAM SINCLAIR, reader from 1574 1574 to 1580; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 12th March 1582. In 1585 he had Preston also in charge; removed there in 1590, but returned in 1597. He officiated at Preston up to 1616.—[Calderwood's Hist., iv. 604; Wodrow Miscell.]

GEORGE REDPATH, M.A., trans. from 1590 1590 Ellem and adm. in 1599; retrans. to Ellem in 1607. [Reg. Assig.]

MATTHEW CARRAIL, min. in 1607: 1607 trans. to Edrom in 1612.

JOHN GAITTIS [GALT], probably son 1614 of Patrick G., min. of Duns: min. in 1614. On 30th Aug. 1640, he was in the Castle of Dunglass, with the soldiers under Thomas, Earl of Haddington, who were guarding the communications of General David Leslie, and the Scottish troops serving in England against Charles I. According to Scot-starvet, the powder magazine was willfully fired by an English page boy, the commander, Galt, and about sixty-six others being killed and thirty-three injured. He marr. Agnes, daugh. of Patrick Cockburn of East Borthwick, and had issue—Isabel (marr. William Measser, advocate).—[Reg. Assig.; Balfour's Hist. Works; Stevenson's Hist.; Lithgow's Gushing Tears; Reg. of Deeds, cccxxxvi., 25th Nov. 1630; G. R. Hearings, 17th April 1672.]

ROBERT COLDEN, M.A. (St Andrews 1626): had been a min. in Ireland, but 1650 was forced, through cruelty of the Irish rebels, to flee from that country with his wife and children. A collection for them was intimated in the Church of Dunfermline, 12th March 1643. He became min. here in 1650, and died after 29th March 1664. He marr. (1) Helen Aitchison, and had issue—Helen; (2) Anna, daugh. of James Dues, min. of Earlston, and widow of John Trotter in Fogo Bank, who survived him, and had issue—Robert, burzar of the Presb. of Earlston, 1665-7; Alexander, his successor here in 1690, afterwards min. of Oxnam.—[Dunfermline Sess. Reg.; Lothian Synod, Haddington Sess. Reg.; G. R. Inhib., 13th May 1663; The Session Book of Bunkle, 1899-1900.]

GEORGE TROTTER, M.A.: pres. by 1665 the curators of James, Marquess of Douglas, and adm. 25th July 1665; trans. to Edrom in 1677.

ALEXANDER NICOLSON, M.A. (St 1678 Andrews, 25th July 1671); adm. 20th Aug. 1678. Refusing to read the Proclamation of the Estates or pray for William and Mary, he was rabbled and the charge declared vacant from 6th July 1690.

He went to Hutton, and was settled in the curacy of Holy Island 20th Aug. 1701, where he died 31st Aug. 1711, aged 65. He carried off the Session Register, which was afterwards in the hands of a descendant, Nicolson of Loanend. He marr. 29th Oct. 1685, Alison Hume, Gordon, and had issue—Margaret, bapt. 30th July 1686; Elizabeth, bapt. 14th March 1688 (marr. George Nicolson of Loanend), died 1721; Janet, bapt. 2nd Feb. 1690 (marr., pro. 10th Dec. 1738, Robert Murdoch, merchant, Edinburgh).—[Gordon Sess. Reg.; Tombst.; MS. Acc. of Min., 1689; *Edin. CRANSHAWES.

[The church was dedicated to St Ninian. A new building was erected in 1739, at a considerable distance from the older site. This church was restored in 1900. A sculptured coat of the royal arms transferred from the earlier edifice was placed there probably because the Crown had anciently patrimonial rights in the parish.]

DUNS.

[Became in 1342 a prebend of the Collegiate Church of Dunbar, and was served by a vicar. The dedication is uncertain, but the fair day was the Monday after Trinity Sunday. The church demolished in 1790 had a Burgess loft, dated 1572. It was proposed by the Synod, 10th July 1611, to make Birkenside a separate charge, but this was not carried out. Birkenside is now called Chapel, and marks the site of a chapel dedicated to St Magdalene. It was formerly the kirklands of Ellem, and was perhaps the same as the "Bona Hospitalis de Duns."]

1568 Berwick in Nov. 1568; trans. to Jedburgh 2nd Aug. 1569.

JOHN STRAQUHYN [STRACHAN] 1569 reader.

JOHN BENNETT, min. of Heriot, was 1581 pres. by James VI. 2nd May 1581.
On 3rd May 1582 he gave an obligation to James Colvill of Easter Wemyss, in acknowledgment of his services in providing him to the parsonage of Duns, vacant through the death of the last parson, Sir Daniel Home of Fishwick, to lease to him or certain others the teind sheaves and the kirklands of Duns. He demitted previous to 26th Jan. 1582-3, and remained at Heriot.

PATRICK GAITTIS [GALT] was at 1582 Abernethy and Abdie as min. in 1567;
trans. to Edrom after 11th June 1573, having also Duns, Langton, Fogo, and Polwarth in his charge. Transferred to Duns about 1582, and pres. by James VI.
26th June 1582. In 1581 he and Clapperton of Coldstream were appointed to form a Presbytery in the Merse. He was seized and taken to Edinburgh by the archers of the guard, 25th May 1584; still min. 10th July 1611, though in "inability and auld age." He marr. Isobel Gibb, and had issue — Alexander, min. of Polwarth; and probably John, min. of Bunkle. [Fife Inhib.,

WILLIAM ARCHMUTIE, M.A., is 1585 mentioned as min. of Duns in 1585.

PETER DANIELSTON, or DENNIS-1585 TON, of the family of D. of Col-grain, Dumbartonshire, and brother of Sir Robert D. of Montjoy, Conservator of the Privileges of the Scots Nation in the Low Countries. Three persons at this time, viz., Bennett, Gaittis, and Danielston, claimed to have been lawfully provided to the parsonage and vicarage of Duns.
Danielston obtained a decret of the Court of Session against the others, and the parishioners were ordered to pay their dues to him. In Feb. 1585-6 the parishioners complained to the Court that they were being pursued for payment not only by Danielston, but by certain assignees of Robert Colvill of Cleish, who had a lease of the parsonage dues from Bennett and Gaittis. The Court remitted the matter to the Commissioners at Edinburgh for inquiries, and on 4th July 1587 it was settled in favour of Danielston. On 2nd Feb. 1587-8 he got a Crown charter of the kirklands of Duns, called Priestside, and other lands, but certain houses and lands called the Teindhill were reserved to the minister of the parish. He had sasine in these lands 13th Jan. 1588-9. He died between 16th Dec.

1601, when he sold the kirklands to Sir George Home of Wedderburn, and 26th
Jan. 1602, when his son William granted a charter of them. He marr. Janet Ramsay, and had issue—William.—[Reg. Assig.;

JOHN WEEMES [WEMYSS], born about 1579, only son of John W. of 1613 Lathockar, Fife; M.A. (St Andrews 1600); min. of Hutton in 1600; trans. and
adm. in 1613. He was a member of the Perth Assembly in 1618; was called before the Court of High Commission in 1620, when he had a conference with Archbishop Spottiswood, and maintained that kneeling at the Communion was "contrary to its institution." He was pres. by Charles I. on 4th May to the second prebend of Durham, and installed canon 7th June 1634. This he held in conjunction, probably the only instance of an English prebendal stall being held by a min. of the Church of Scotland. He died Nov. 1636. He marr.
(1) Margaret Cockburn, and had issue—David; (2) Janet Murray, and had issue
—John, who succeeded to Lathockar; and a daugh., who, being reduced to straits, received £3 from the session of Yester, 10th April 1664. Publications—*The Chris-

ANDREW ROLLO, M.A., min. in 1637; was dep. by the Gen. Assembly, 14th 1687 Dec. 1638, "for signing a declinature of their authority from ignorance, he having been brought up in the principles of the Episcopal Church." On petitioning (apparently on the same day), he was allowed to delete his signature, and declare his recantation in the parish church, on which he was reponed. "One Shepherd, a min. about Dundee, came in that day, as the other one Rollock, min. at Duncce, confessing their fault and ignorance in subscriyving the Assembly's declinature, and entreating they might get leave to putt out their own names. It was granted them on assurance of their publick repentance for this fault." He was again dep. by the Assembly in July 1649, a sentence which was recalled by the Synod of Perth and Stirling, 13th Oct. 1652, when he was adm. to Dunning.—[Baillie's Letters; Peterkin's Records; Acts of Ass.; *Balfour's Hist. ALEXANDER COLDEN, M.A.; trans. 1693 from Bunkle, and adm. 5th Dec. 1693; trans. to Oxnam 8th May 1700.

[The parish was vacant for over three years, notwithstanding several presentations, all of which were rejected.]

LAURENCE JOHNSTON, M.A. (Edin 1703 burgh, 13th July 1695); licen. by Presb. of Edinburgh 3rd Sept. 1701; sometime in charge of the meeting-house at Haddington, when the Episcopalians kept possession of the parish church there; called 18th June, and ord. 24th Sept. 1703; died 2nd Sept. 1736, aged about 62. He marr. (1) 3rd Feb. 1704, Grizel, daugh. of Thomas Hunter, writer, Edinburgh, and had issue—Elizabeth (marr. (1) Alexander Spittal, lieutenant, 2nd Dragoons, and (2) 10th Aug. 1735, David Spens, W.S.), died 23rd June 1787; Jean died 26th Aug. 1736; (2) March 1731, Jean, daughter of Alexander Trotter of Cattleshiel, Longformacus, who survived him, and marr. 11th Aug. 1737, Martin Eccles, surgeon, Edinburgh.—[Wool-rour MSS.; Lauder Tests.]

ROGER MOODIE, eldest son of George M., minister of Fogo; M.A. (Edinburgh, 1739, 27th May 1719); licen. by Presb. of Duns 4th Feb. 1724; pres. by Robert, Lord Blantyre (who had obtained a disposition of the patronage from Hay of Drumelzier, who did not qualify) Feb. 1737. Much opposition was shown by the parishioners. On appeal the Assembly ordered the ordination to be proceeded with, which was done under protection of a military force, 15th March 1739. This led to the formation of the East or Antiburgher Church in the town in 1742. M. died 26th April 1748, aged about 47. He marr. Grace Venice (probably a sister of William V., licen. by Presb. of Chirnside in 1708); she died 30th Dec. 1788.—[Lauder Tests.]

ADAM DICKSON, M.A.: pres. by John Hay of Belton, 27th Aug. 1748. In 1750 opposition to this presentation a call was given to James Lindsay, minister of Dunbarney, and the case was taken to the House of Lords. On a decision of that Court, the Assembly ordered D. to be ordained 21st Sept. 1750. This was done as in the previous case, under the protection of the military. (The Relief, or South Church, was formed by the protesters); trans. to Whittingehame 22nd June 1769.—[Morren's Ann.; Connell's Par. Law.]

ROBERT BOWMAKER, born 1731; licen. by Presb. of Chirnside 2nd Aug. 1761; ord. with the view of proceeding to America; adm. here 26th Sept. 1769; D.D. (St Andrews, 25th April 1781); died 11th March 1797. When visiting at Berrywell, near Duns, Robert Burns heard B. preach, 6th May 1787. He had selected a text which contained a severe denunciation of obstinate sinners. In the course of the sermon Burns observed Miss Ainslie (his host's sister) turning over the leaves of her Bible with much earnestness, in search of the text. He immediately wrote the following lines, and handed them to her:

“Fair maid, you need not take the hint, Nor idle texts pursue:
’Twas guilty sinners that he meant,
Not angels such as you.”

Of Bowmaker, Burns writes in his diary: “A man of strong lungs and pretty judicious remark: but ill-skilled in propriety, and altogether unconscious of his want of it.” He marr. Mary Watson, who died at Outfield, 20th Oct. 1816, aged 79, and had issue—Jean, born 19th April 1768; Alexander, wine merchant, London, born 31st July 1777. ECCLES.

[Prior to 1248 the church was dedicated to St Cuthbert, but on 4th Oct. of that year Bishop David de Bernham consecrated a new church in honour of St Andrew. This was rebuilt and enlarged in 1774. The parish was divided of old into four parts, called the Quarters of Eccles. St Andrew's Quarter in the west, was attached to the parish church. The others were connected with the chapels of St John, on the north at Mersington; Our Lady, on the east at the Chapel Knowe of Leitholm; and St Magdalene on the south at Birgham, where the graveyard has remained. In the seventeenth century the Indulged Presbyterians used the ancient chapel of St John at Mersington. A priory of Cistercian nuns, dedicated to St Mary, was founded at Eccles in 1156 by Gospatrick, third Earl of Dunbar. It was burned down by the Earl of Hertford in 1545, and was not restored. Some remains of it can be seen at Eccles House. A tall wheel-headed cross stands in the vicinity of Crosshall farm.]

FOGO.

[Was given to the Abbey of Kelso about 1159 by Gospatrick, third Earl of Dunbar. In 1683 the church was in great disrepair. The Harsarse aisle may be a reconstruction of the old chancel. There was in the parish a chapel of St Nicholas, granted by Patrick Corbet to the monks of Kelso between 1280 and 1297. This, called the Chapel of the Lord William, son of the Earl, was consecrated by Bishop David de

Bernham, 2nd April 1242. The parish church was consecrated 29th March 1243. A restoration in 1755 destroyed most of the antique features of the church.]

GREENLAW.

[Previous to the Reformation the church belonged to the Abbey of Kelso. It was dedicated by David de Bernham, 4th April 1242. There is no record of a patron saint, but a fair was held here on St Helen's Day. The tower was built originally as a jail, in 1712. In a charter of 1159 chapels at Lambden and Halyburton are mentioned. There was also a chapel at Rowiestone.]

CHARLES HOME, reader in 1567. He held also the chaplaincy at Halyburton.

JOHN AFFLECK, last of the Romish priests, conformed, and was reader in 1569.

WILLIAM FRASER, reader from 1570 to 1590.

ROBERT FRENCH, pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 23rd April 1573; trans. to Home about 1574.

DAVID HOME, younger son of John H. of Ninewells; M.A. (Edinburgh 1588); ord. to Chirnside in 1593; pres. by Sir George Home of Greenlaw; trans. and adm. before March 1603. He was nominated constant Moderator of Presb. by the Assembly at Linlithgow; was a member of Assembly in 1608; acquired a feu-right to the lands of The Tenantry of Greenlaw in 1617; was tutor of Ninewells in 1619; was called before the Court of High Commission in 1620, and died in April 1637, aged about 69. He marr. Magdalen Auchencraw, "life-renter of a third of the West Mains of Chirnside," perhaps as widow of one of the Spences of West Mains and Hardens. She predeceased him.—[Milne Home Papers, 233; Reg. of Assiz.; Reg. Privy Coun.; Reg. of Deeds, cccxxiii., 232; *Gen. DAVID SPENCE is referred to in a minute, dated 11th Sept. 1655, quoted at a visitation at Greenlaw on 28th Nov. 1664. He is then described as the last min. there. He is apparently the same as D. S. of Chirnside West Mains, and Hardens. He marr. before 1635, Barbara, daugh. of Andrew Logan of Coitfield, and had issue—Samuel; James.

ROBERT HOME of Greenlaw Castle, descended from the Homes of Polwarth; M.A. (St Andrews 1617); tutor and servitor at Redbraes, 1619-31; ord. to Ellem in 1635; trans. and adm. in 1645; died 12th Dec. 1673, in his 79th year. He was one of those appointed to revise the metrical psalms, 1650 edition. He marr. Agnes, daugh. of William Methven, min. of Fogo, and had issue—William of Greenlaw Castle, apprenticed to Robert Campbell, apothecary, Edinburgh, 30th Aug. 1654, sometime Sheriff-substitute of the county, died 1703; James, apprenticed to Thomas Trotter, cordwainer, Edinburgh, 2nd June 1652; Margaret (marr. 28th Oct. 1663, George Holiwell, min. of Polwarth). He had various mortgages on land in Berwickshire, and by a loan to Sir Patrick Hume, first Earl of Marchmont, he acquired Greenlaw Castle. This loan was repaid by Alexander, the second Earl, sixty-four years later. [Among the descendants of his son William, were—Anne Home, minor poetess, wife of John Hunter, the anatomist; Mary, wife of Robert Mylne, architect; Sir Everard Home, Bart., a distinguished surgeon; and Duncan Charles Home, V.C., "the hero of the Kashmir Gate," at the Siege of Delhi, 1857 (Lord Roberts' Forty-one Years in India)]—[*Presb. JOHN HOME, eldest son of John H. of Kelloe; licen. by George, Bishop of Edinburgh, 17th June 1673; pres. by Sir Patrick Hume of Polwarth, Bart.; adm. 10th May, and coll. 11th Aug. 1674; deprived by Privy Council 17th Sept. 1689, for failing to read the Proclamation of the Estates and to pray for William and Mary. For some years he ministered in the Episcopal meeting-house at Eyemouth, but was dep. by Presb. of Chirnside, 29th April 1718, for baptizing the children of persons of scandalous character. As he continued in his post there, the Presb. appealed to the Justices, who held that he came under the Act of Toleration. The Court of Justiciary on 29th May 1719 inhibited him. He retired to Herdrig, in Eccles parish, and on 5th March 1721 was warned by the Sheriff that his chapel would be shut up if he allowed more than eight persons beyond his own family to attend. He succeeded to Kelloe, but sold the lands in 1710. He died in 1740. He marr. JOHN BURNE, born 1615; M.A. (Glasgow 1634). He was settled here in 1659. He refused to conform to Episcopacy, but was protected by Sir Archibald Cockburn of Langton, and continued till his death, between 21st Nov. 1672 and 25th March 1673. In Sept. 1668 he was reported to the Bishop for allowing John Veitch, the suspended min. of Westruther, to dispense the Communion in the parish to a vast assemblage from all parts of the Border. He refused the Presbytery's offer to supply his pulpit, and permitted deposed ministers and students to share his pastoral duties. The Presb. complained that "great crowds with itching ears flock to hear those intruders, to the contempt of authority, both civil and ecclesiastical, and to the no small scandal of all well-affected persons." He marr., and had issue—William, alive in 1689; George, apprenticed to James Stewart, druggist, Edinburgh, 15th Nov. 1665.—[Bunkle Sess. Reg.; Tombst.; Wodrow's Hist.]

LUKE OGLE, M.A., born 1610, eldest son of Nicholas O., of the Eglingham branch of this widely-spread Northumberland family; was vicar of Ingram, from which he was driven by the Act of Uniformity. He became lecturer in Berwick, but was ejected along with Wressel the vicar, in 1662. While resident in Berwick he served in the ministry at Ancroft, but was seized by Lord Widdrington, Governor of Berwick, and imprisoned for six weeks. Being admitted to bail, he was released and confined to the town and its liberties. After getting free of this restraint, he visited friends in England and in Scotland, where he often took part in conventicles. Many gatherings were held at this time at Lintlaw, Blarney House, the house of the Laird of Abbey, Duns Law, and Nisbet, where John Welch, "so much talked about," was the preacher. At Langton Ogle preached and baptized, and drew great crowds, and was on 19th Sept. 1671 inhibited by the Archbishop of St Andrews. Returning to Berwick, he was again banished, and went to London. General Monk offered to procure him a bishopric if he would conform, but Ogle answered that "the height of his ambition was only to live quietly and peaceably among his own people. If that could not be obtained, he must submit to Providence." Again he was imprisoned for some months, on pretence of a plot being discovered among Presbyterians in the south of England. He retired to his estate of Bowsden, where he conducted meetings that later formed the beginning of the congregation of Barmoor or Lowick. He was indulged here by the Privy Council, 20th Sept. 1679, and officiated in the Langton Byre (later mistakenly called the Episcopal Meeting-house). In 1685 he was a prisoner at Wooler for five weeks, which nearly cost him his life. On the Indulgence of 1687 he returned to Berwick and ministered to a large congregation. This developed later into the High and the Low Meetings, and is now represented by St Andrew's, Church of Scotland. He received calls from the parish of Kelso and the city of Edinburgh, but declined to remove, and died April 1696. He marr. (pro. Feb. 1657), Mary, daugh. of Arthur Foster, parish of Kirkandrews, Cumberland, and had issue—Samuel of Bowsden, who sat in Parliament for Berwick, and died Commissioner of the Revenue for Ireland, 10th March 1718.—[*Berwick Reg. LONGFORMACUS AND ELLEM.

[The church of Longformacus was dedicated by Bishop David de Bernham, 11th March 1243. In 1667 the choir was in ruins, the church itself being "very ruinous." It was rebuilt on the old foundations in 1730, and a thorough renovation was made in 1895. Our Lady's Well is on the Dye Water, about a quarter of a mile east of the village. The parish was long united to Mordington, but was disjoined in 1666. Longformacus and Ellem were united in 1712, and Ellem church was disused.]

POLWARTH.

[A church was built here about the year
 900. On 7th April 1242 a new church, dedicated to St Mungo, was consecrated by Bishop David de Bernham. It was rebuilt in 1378, and again in 1703, by Sir Patrick Hume, first Earl of Marchmont.
 There still remains under the east end the vaulted burial aisle where Sir Patrick was concealed in 1684. The pulpit frontal was the work of his daughter, Lady Grisell Baillie.]

ADAM HUME, third son of Sir Patrick

[COLIN ROW, min. of Drumelzier, was 1604 allowed to demit that parish on account of insufficiency of stipend.
 When the Presbytery met to examine him with a view to settlement here, an anonymous letter was read, dated 5th Nov. 1604:
 "There are reports that another is being pushed for the place, and R.'s modesty may prevent him doing justice to himself, yet Demosthenes in his youth stood dumb before the people. As the Lord will reward you, have regard to the honest innocency of that simple soul." This appeal was unsuccessful, but he was settled at St Quivox soon afterwards.—Peebles Presb. Reg.]

PRESBYTERY OF CHIRNSIDE

[Proposed to be erected by the General Assembly, 1581. From 7th Aug. 1630 to 19th Oct. 1698 this Presbytery was united to Duns. The Register begins 7th Aug. 1630, and is continued to the present time, the only blank being from 7th Jan. to 27th March 1694. The Registers previous to 1630 were carried off at the Revolution by some of the ousted ministers, and were never recovered.]

AYTON.

[A church, dedicated to St Denys, existed here before the close of the twelfth century. St Ebba's Well is near Lambertton, united to Ayton in 1627, was annexed to Mordington in 1650. A handsome church was built at Ayton in 1865, at the expense of Alexander Mitchell-Innes of Ayton.]

JOHN FLINT, reader. He frequently 1574 appears as a witness to charters of the Prior of Coldingham from 1552 onwards, and signs as "priest of the Diocese of St Andrews." In 1571 he was vicar pensioner of Ayton, and was summoned for irregularities in connection with the administration of the sacraments. He compared before the Assembly, and was ordered to abstain from all functions within the kirk "till the Superintendent of Lothian try his ability and learning." He continued reader until 1580.

CHIRNSIDE.

[Originally a prebend of the collegiate church of Dunbar, and afterwards of that of Dunglass. Of the church built about 1150, the fine Norman doorway and part of the south wall have survived many changes. An old tower with vaulted chambers was taken down in 1750. In 1907 the church was the subject of an extensive restoration, when a tower and hall were added by Edward, second Lord Tweedmouth, in memory of his wife, Lady Fanny Churchill. In 1912 the third Lord Tweedmouth erected an ornamental gateway to the churchyard, in memory of his father.]

NIXIAN FORMAN, reader, 1567 to 1567 1591.

THOMAS STORIE had at different times Bunkle, Preston, Foulden, and 1578 Hutton under his charge. He resided here from 1578 to 1585, when he returned to Foulden.

HENRY ERSKINE [ARESKINE], born 23rd Aug. 1624, at Dryburgh, parish of Mertoun; a younger son of Ralph E. of Shielfield, Channellkirk, by his second wife, Janet Wilson. [Ralph of Shielfield was grandson of James E. of Balgonie, brother of the fourth Lord Erskine, ancestor of the Earls of Mar.]
He studied at Edinburgh Univ., graduated M.A. 15th April 1645, and was probably licen. by Presb. of Earlston. In 1649 (or according to Calamy and Palmer in 1659) he was ord. to Cornhill, in Northumberland, but was ejected by the Act of Uniformity on St Bartholomew's Day, 25th Aug. 1662. He resided for some years at Dryburgh, exercising his ministry as opportunity offered, till April 1682, when he was seized by Urruhart of Meldrum, leader of the troops on the Borders, and imprisoned successively at Melrose, Jedburgh, and Edinburgh. Arraigned before the Privy Council, he was asked by Sir George Mackenzie if he would give his bond to cease preaching at conventicles. His reply was: "My Lord, I have my commission from Christ, and though I were within an hour of my death I durst not lay it down at any mortal man's foot." He was fined 5000 merks, and condemned to the Bass till payment of the fine. As his health was bad, he requested leave to go out of the kingdom, and gave security for the money.
He then spent two years and a half with his family at Parkridge, near Carlisle, after which, on the invitation of Philip Grey of Preston, he went to reside at Monilaws, near his former charge of Cornhill. In 1685 he was imprisoned with Luke Ogle at Wooler and at Newcastle, but was freed shortly after by the passing of the Act of Indemnity. He took up residence at Newton, or Ravelaw, in Whitsome Parish, and ministered there for a time, when young Thomas Boston was one of his hearers.

He was called to this charge, and adm. 18th Sept. 1690. He died 10th Aug. 1696. He marr. (1) 1652, Jean (died 9th March 1670), daugh. of David Brown of Park, Earlston, and had issue—Jean, born at Galashiels, 28th June 1653 (marr. 17th Dec. 1686, George Balderston, surgeon, Edinburgh); Elizabeth, born at Wooler, 1st May 1655, died young; Philip, rector of Knaresdale, Northumberland, born at Wooler, 25th
Dec. 1657; Katherine, born at Cornhill, 12th Aug. 1659; Elizabeth, born 7th Feb.

1699 Sept. 1698; ord. 6th April 1699;
trans. to Meigle 1702.—[Acts of Ass., 1701, 1702.]

GEORGE HOME of Broadhaugh, second 1704 son of Alexander H. of Kennetside-head, who was put to death as a Covenanter in 1682, and Jean Home; licen.
by Presb. of Duns 6th Oct. 1702; called 18th Oct. 1703, and ord. 13th March 1704; died 5th Oct. 1755. He marr. 19th Aug.
1706, Catherine (bapt. 20th Jan. 1678, died 1715), daugh. of John Home of Ninewells, and aunt of David H., the historian, and had issue—Alexander, min. of Stichill; Abraham, his successor; Rachel, bapt. 11th
Jan. 1713; Joseph, bapt. 26th Feb. 1711;
George, baker, Edinburgh, bapt. 7th June

1716; Margaret, bapt. 25th March 1718 (marr. 23rd Nov. 1743, Robert Robertson of Prendergust), died 30th July 1786. After his death a dispute arose between his executors and Walter Anderson, his successor, concerning the half-year's stipend, it being argued that but for the change in the calendar in 1752 H. would have died before Michaelmas. The Lords of Session decided that the old calendar ruled, and that H. died before Michaelmas according to that style.—[Lauder Tests.; Morrison's Dec., xvii.]

ABRAHAM HOME, son of preceding; 1741 ord. (assistant) 17th Feb. 1741. The patron, William Hall of Whitehall, raised an action in the Court of Session against the Presb., which was settled by the minute being altered to state that he had been ord. assistant only. Despite this, he sat and voted regularly at the Presb. meetings, even when his father also voted. He was trans. to Whittingehame 23rd March 1748.

COLDINGHAM.

[The church, dedicated to St Mary, belonged to the Priory of Coldingham till the Reformation. On the high promontory of St Abb's Head in this parish, St Ebba, daughter of Ethelfrith, King of Northumberland, and sister of St Oswald, founded a double convent of monks and nuns. This she ruled as abbess till her death in 683. Some years later the building was destroyed by fire. In 1090 King Edgar founded a Benedictine priory, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, St Cuthbert, and St Ebba. It was built at Coldingham, over two miles inland, from the remains on St Abb's Head. In 1509 the monastery passed under the rule of the Abbey of Dunfermline. After the Reformation the priory church was used for parochial purposes, and much of the ancient structure survives in the existing parish church.]

1567 Reformed Church, 20th Dec. 1560, thought "apt and able to minister"; adm. in 1567. In 1571 Ayton and Lamberton were in the charge. He died 11th March 1583, and in his will he commends "his spirit to God, his bodie to be erdit in the kirkyaird of C., willing and beseking the parochinars thereof to orlour that place to be mair cumlie and decentlie kept then it hes been in tyme bygane."—[*Booke of the Kirk: Reg. [The parish was vacant for several years, the majority of the heritors being in sympathy with the Episcopal mins. who conducted services at Coldingham and Eyemouth. Ultimately the Synod sent assessors to assist the Presb. in their choice of a minister.]

JOHN DYSART, born 1690; M.A. (Glasgow 1680); ord. min. of a 1694 Presbyterian congregation at Dalton, Northumberland, 1686; adm. min. of Langton 30th April 1691; elected by the Presb. jure devoluto 1st May, trans. and adm. 24th July 1694. It was necessary to call a military force to prevent a riot at his settlement, and for some time afterwards he carried two pistols to the pulpit, which he laid down openly on each side of him. He died before Jan. 1726, leaving £200 to the poor of the parish. He was a man of great force of character and strength of will, and a resolute defender of the Presbyterian cause. During his ministry he held 1169 meetings of his Kirk-session, and most of the leading men of his parish were at one time or other brought before it. By the close of his ministry he had made himself a power in the district, and even those opposed to his church views recognised his sincerity and courage. He marr. (1) 17th Jan. 1699, Elizabeth (died May 1702), daugh. of John Bishop, Cockburnspath, and had issue—John; Elizabeth (marr. her father's successor); a son, who died at birth, 1702; (2) 31st Dec. 1703, Mary, daugh. of the Hon. William Sandilands of Couston, son of John, fourth Lord Torphichen, and widow of Major Menzies of Culdaraes, and had issue—Matthew, min. of Eccles. D.'s widow gifted to the Kirk-session a silver cup and a pewter baptismal basin, 7th April 1726.—[Edin. Marr. and Sess. Regs.; Boston's Memo.; Carr's Hist.; Murray's *Biog. COLDSTREAM, FORMERLY LENNEL.

[A priory of Cistercian nuns was founded at Coldstream in 1125, by Gospatrick, third Earl of Dunbar. To it belonged the Parish Kirk of Lennel and the chapels of the Hirsell and St Mary's, Bassendean (in West-ruther). This convent was destroyed by the English in 1545. Its lands were afterwards alienated by royal grants. The church of Lennel was dedicated by Bishop David de Bernham, 31st March 1243. The chapel of the Hirsell disappeared before 1627, and was never afterwards rebuilt. The church of Lennel, of twelfth-century work, was for long the parish church. In 1705, because the building was ruinous and too small, a new church was erected at Coldstream by Charles, Earl of Home. The Earl of Haddington and Ker of Graden in the Merse repaired the old church at Lennel

1574 JOHN LYCHTBODE, reader.

JOHN CLAPPERTON, a native of the county, was in 1570 exhorter at Livingston; trans. to Hutton in 1571; trans. and adm. in 1576, when Simprin also was in the charge; app. by the General Assembly that year as Visitor of Merse and Lammermuir; this was several times renewed; in 1583 his district extended from the Forth to Berwick. He was apprehended, 25th May 1584, by two archers of the Guard, and taken to Edinburgh. He was charged, 7th Dec. following, with not giving obedience to his Ordinary, and was one of those who signed an address to the King on that matter. At the Assembly, 1586, he dissented against annulling the sentence which had been passed upon Archbishop Adamson. While acting as one of the Commissioners of the Assembly at Edinburgh, he was ordered by His Majesty, 21th Nov. 1596, to leave within twenty-four hours and attend his congregation. By the Assembly, 1606, he was appointed constant Moderator of the Presb., which was enjoined by the Privy Council, 17th Jan. thereafter, to receive him as such within twenty-four hours after notice, under pain of rebellion. Charged by the Synod to demit that office, he did so, for which he was called before the Privy Council, where he expressed his readiness to accept it of new. After this he appears to have been wholly submissive to the measures of the Court. He died in 1617. He was a member of at least sixteen General Assemblies. Cadderwood says of him, "The man was ambitious, and readie to embrace any preferment." He marr. (1) 1574, Joanna Spence, Chirnside, and had issue—Samuel Spence, colonel of horse under Gustavus Adolphus, and Governor of Finland, born 1576, died at Womer, 1622; Christian, born 1580 (marr. 1600, Alexander Lauder of Gungsgreen); Anne, bapt. at East Nisbet Chapel, 1585 (marr.

1604, Robert Bromfield of Todridge); Margaret, born 1589 (marr. 1610, Robert Lauder, W.S., Edinburgh); Elspeth, born 1592 (marr. 1613, Patrick Craw of Heughead); John, min. of Ednam; George, born 1598; (2) 1611, Barbara Seton of Todridge, near Haddington, and had issue—William, min. of Coldstream; Patrick, born 1615. EDROM.

[The church was granted to Coldingham Priory by Earl Gospatrick in 1139. There were subordinate chapels at Kimmerghame, Blackadder, East Nisbet, and Earlston. By 1450 land at Kelloe was granted to found the prebend of Kelloe in the collegiate church of Dunglass, and a papal bull of 1459 gave to Dunglass the vicarage of Edrom. The old Norman church was taken down in 1737, all that survives being a fine doorway, and a transept chapel built in 1499 by Robert Blackadder, Archbishop of Glasgow, whose ancestors held the lands of Blackadder in the parish.]

LADYKIRK, FORMERLY UPSET- LINGTON AND HORNDEAN.

[The church of St Mary at Ladykirk was built by James IV. in 1500, as the result of a vow made by him when nearly drowned in the Tweed. The Royal Treasurer's Accounts between 1500 and 1513, the year of Flodden, contain entries of many valuable gifts from the king, who was a frequent visitor to Our Lady Kirk of Steill, as the church was called—"steill" being the term applied to the deep salmon pools in the river, in which the royal founder had almost lost his life. The church was a constant meeting-place for the Wardens of the Marches, and the last treaty between Scotland and England was signed within its walls. It was restored in 1743, and again in 1861, and except for a four-sided dome with belfry added to the tower at the former date, the building is little altered from its original appearance. The church of Horndean was dedicated by Bishop David de Bernham, 4th April 1243. After 1600 Upsetlington and Horndean were united. At the Chapel Park stood the ancient church of Upsetlington, while near Horndean Church Robert Bisset of Upsetlington founded, in the twelfth century, a Hospital of St Leonard. Wells dedicated to St Mary and to St Anne are in the parish.]

MORDINGTON AND LAMBERTON.

[Mordington.—Longformacus, seventeen miles distant, was conjoined with Mordington for a time, but the two became separate parishes in 1666. The patron proposed to unite Mordington to Foulden in 1719, and the Court of Session approved, but no further steps were taken. Another abortive attempt was made to unite these two parishes in 1750. The ancient church is now represented by a burial vault in a disused churchyard near Mordington House. A new church was built in 1869. Bernard de Linton, Chancellor of Scotland, was rector of Mordington circa 1296.]

[Lamberton.—Originally a chapel of Coldingham, was united to Foulden in 1616, to Ayton in 1627, and finally to Mordington, 8th Feb. 1650. The church was dedicated to St Lambert. Here in 1502 the Princess Margaret, daugh. of Henry VIII., was received by the Scottish Commissioners on her entry into Scotland previous to her marriage to James IV. The ruins of the church are visible in an old churchyard close to the boundary of the Liberties of Berwick.]

 1648. He joined the Protesters; with Guthrie and others he was seized at a private meeting, and committed to Edinburgh Castle, 23rd Aug. 1660, but was liberated shortly afterwards in a state of mental derangement. His stipend was sequestrated by the Committee of Estates, 25th Sept. following, on the ground that he had subscribed "ane dangerous and seditious paper tending to the disturbance of the peace of the kingdom." He refused to conform to Episcopacy in 1662, but was allowed to remain in his charge, "it being one of the smallest charges, not sixty communicants and not a hundred persons, and one of the smallest stipends." Owing to his having permitted "several vagrant preachers and indulged ministers to occupy his pulpit," the Privy Council, 4th April 1679, ordered him to be ejected. He was imprisoned in Edinburgh Castle in 1680, but released on account of sickness, and refusing to take the Test, was deprived in 1682. He petitioned the Committee of Estates in 1689, and was restored to his ministry; was a member of Assembly in 1690, and died June 1695. He marr. and had issue—James, bursar in divinity;

SWINTON AND SIMPRIN.

[The whole manor of Swinton was part of a gift by King Edgar, for the endowment of Coldingham Priory, about 1100. The church, dedicated to St Mary, and built shortly after that date, was held by Coldingham; portions of the east, south and west walls belong to the original edifice. A feuars' aisle was added in 1782, and alterations were made in 1792 and 1800. In 1909 the church was largely rebuilt. A very ancient effigy in it is held to represent Sir Alan de Swinton, who died about 1200. The bell, in use, is dated 1499, and is inscribed Maria est nomen meum. Simprin was united to Swinton in 1761.]

[JOSEPH STEVENSON, born Berwickon-Tweed, 27th Nov. 1806, eldest son of Robert S., surgeon, and Elizabeth Wilson; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; licen. by Presb. of Chirnside 8th Sept. 1829; employed in the MS. department of the British Museum, 1831-3, and a subcommissioner of the Public Records, 1834-8; pres. by John Wilson of Whitsome Hill in 1838. Objection to his appointment was taken by George Fulton Knight, min. of Mordington, on the ground that several of S.'s children had been baptized by clergymen of the Church of England. The Synod ordered the Presb. to proceed with the ordination. Letters in S.'s favour were produced from Sir Henry Ellis, Prof. Fraser-Tytler, and many well-known men. On a second appeal being begun by Knight, S. withdrew from the presentation. In 1839 he entered the Church of England; was librarian to the Dean and Chapter of Durham in 1841; honorary M.A. (Durham 1844); curate of St Giles, Durham, 1847; vicar of Leighton-Buzzard, Bedfordshire, 1849-62. In 1863 he joined the Church of Rome, and was a priest in 1872. From 1872 to 1876 he studied the Archives in the Vatican Library at Rome. In 1877 he entered Roehampton College as a Novice of the Society of Jesus, and in 1885 became professed of the three vows; LL.D. (St Andrews 1893); died at London, 8th Feb. 1895. He marr. 19th Sept. 1831, Mary Ann (died 11th July 1869), daugh. of John Craig, Mount Florida, Glasgow, and had issue. He was an archivist and historical writer of much distinction, whose pen for more than sixty years was never idle. He did important work for the Rolls Series, and edited numerous volumes for the Bannatyne, Maitland, and Roxburghe Clubs, as well as the Surtees and other learned Societies. The Dict. Nat. Biog. furnishes a complete list of these.—Vide Pollen's "Memoir" in The Month (March and April 1895); The Tablet, 16th Feb. 1895; The Athenæum, 16th Feb. 1895.]

HILTON.

[Of the church consecrated by David de Bernham on 2nd April 1243, only a small fragment is now standing. The site is a grassy knove close to the farm steading of Hilton, and about a mile east of Whitsome. The parish was united to Whitsome by the Lords Commissioners of Teinds, 19th June 1734. It included the lands of Otterburn, which later were annexed to Longformacus. The parish was in the Presb. of Duns from 22nd Oct. 1707 to Oct. 1719.]

JOHN LIGHTBODY, reader from 1576 1576 to 1585.

PRESBYTERY OF KELSO

[Proposed to be erected by the General Assembly, April 1581, but in 1593 the parishes of Kelso, Linton, Makerstoun, Morebattle, Mow, Roxburgh, Sprouston, and Yetholm were still in the Presb. of Jedburgh, while those of Ednam, Home, Nenthorn, and Stichill were in that of Duns. The Register begins 19th Oct. 1609. There are blanks from 12th Dec. 1648 to 1st May 1649; 2nd April 1661 to 28th Oct. 1662; and 16th Oct. 1683 to 17th March 1691.]

EDNAM.

[King Edgar, who reigned from 1097 to 1107, granted the lands now forming this parish to Thor, an Englishman. Thor built a church dedicated to St Cutlibert, and, with the king's consent, endowed it with a ploughgate of land. This is the earliest recorded case of the erection of a parish in Scotland. There was here a hospital of St Leonard, known as Ednam Spital.]

KELSO, MAXWELL, AND ST JAMES'S, ROXBURGH, OTHERWISE NEW ROXBURGH.

[Kelso.—The church was dedicated to St Mary. Prior to the Reformation it belonged to the Abbey of Kelso. About 1648, the abbey, which had suffered considerably at the hands of Hertford during his invasion of Scotland in 1545, was put into repair and fitted up as the parish church. It continued to be so used until 1773, when the present curiously shaped octagonal church was erected.

Maxwell.—The church of Maxwell, dedicated to St Michael, was situated near the junction of Tweed and Teviot. It was named, from the pool on the Tweed there, Maccus' Wheel (Anglo-Saxon wiel, a pool). No trace of the church exists, but a number of tombstones, brought from its churchyard, are deposited in an open space within the policies of Springwood Park. At Harlawe, near the head of the Burn of Wooden in the parish of Maxwell, there was a chapel of St Thomas the Martyr. In 1180 this was given by Herbert of Maxwell to the parish church of Maxwell. Afterwards it passed into the hands of the Abbey of Kelso. The English destroyed it in 1545.

St James's, Roxburgh.—This was the parish of the Royal Burgh of Roxburgh. The church was dedicated on 17th April 1134. It belonged to the Abbey of Kelso. The English ruined the church in 1425. The church was soon rebuilt, but was utterly destroyed, along with the towns of Roxburgh and Kelso, during the invasion of 1545. Its site was on the Tweed at the place called St James's Green, where St James's Fair has continued to be held on or about the saint's day. There remain only the foundations of a large church with aisles and columns. The hospital of Fairnington, within the parish of St James, is mentioned as early as 1186.]

ADAM CLERK, exhorter here and at 1569 Nisbet.

PAUL KNOX, possibly son of William K., merchant, Prestonpans, a brother of 1574 the Reformer; M.A. (St Andrews 1571); min. in 1574, when Ednam, Makerstoun, and Nenthorn were in the charge. He was still min. 1st May 1575.—[Reg. Assig.; Woodrow Miscell.; Knox's Works (preface), vi.; McCrie's Knox, ii.; Haig's History of Kelso.]

JOHN HOWIE [HOWIESON], min. in 1576 1576. He had charge of Sprouston, Maxwell, and Lempitlaw, instead of the parishes mentioned above; trans. to Cambuslang before 1580.—[Reg. Assig.]

ALEXANDER THORNTON, min. 1578 1578 to 1580.—[Reg. Assig.]

WILLIAM BALFOUR, son and heir of William B., citizen of St Andrews; 1585 min. in 1585; app. by the Privy Council 6th March 1589 a commissioner for the preservation of true religion in Roxburghshire; trans. to Maxwell in 1590, when Sprouston and Lempitlaw were also in the charge, but returned in 1591; pres. to the vicarage of Maxwell by James VI. 2nd Feb. and 4th May 1604; died before 15th Nov. 1605. He marr., and had issue—John, served heir, 12th July 1615, probably min. of Linton.—[Reg. of Deeds, xlv., 277; Reg. Assig.; Calderwood's Hist., iv., 604; Wodrow Miscell.; Booke of the Kirk; Inq. Ret. Edin., 353.]

JAMES KNOX, son of William K., min. of Cockpen, was probably grand-nephew of the Reformer, and nephew of Paul K., min. in 1574; M.A. (Edinburgh); regent in the Univ. of Edinburgh; adm. here in 1605 (Maxwell being also in the charge, to the vicarage of which he was pres. by James VI. 15th Nov. 1605); pres. to the vicarage of Kelso 25th May 1609, and again 22nd April 1610. He was app. constant Moderator of Presbytery by the Assembly at Linlithgow in 1606, and the Presb. were ordered by the Privy Council, 17th Jan. following, to acknowledge him as such within twenty-four hours, under pain of rebellion. This was at first resisted, but afterwards accepted. He was a member of Assembly, 1610 and 1618. He dem. before 24th June, and died in Aug. 1633, aged about 58. He used as a dwelling-place vaults in the ruined abbey, one as a hall and kitchen, another as a bedchamber and closet. He marr. about 1605, Martha Borthwick, and had issue—Robert, his successor; Martha, bapt. 31st May 1608; James, bapt. 4th Nov. 1611; Elizabeth, bapt. 12th Sept. 1612; William, born 1614; Rachel, bapt. 2nd June 1616; Agnes, bapt. 7th Oct. 1617; Jean, bapt. 16th Dec. 1618; Alexander, bapt. 1619.—[Calderwood's Hist., vi., 658; Haig's Hist. of Kelso; *Reg. LINTON IN TEVIOTDALE.

[The church of Linton can be traced back to 1127, when Blahan, "Presbyter of Linton," was present at a meeting of the clergy of England and Scotland for the consecration of Robert, Bishop of St Andrews. Edward, "parson of Linton," figures in 1160; and Patrick, "parson of Linton," witnesses a Melrose charter in Alexander II.'s reign. Over the door of the ancient church is sculptured the figure of a mounted knight in combat with a dragon. This is deemed a representation of St Michael, or possibly of St George. Prior to the Reformation, Linton was an independent rectory, the patronage being vested in the Lords Somerville. At Hoselaw, in the upper end of the parish, close to the English Border, stood a chapel dedicated to St Machuit. It belonged to the Abbey of Kelso. The chapel ruins, encircled by a small burial-ground, were still visible in the eighteenth century. Almost on the old site a modern chapel of Hoselaw was erected by public subscription in 1906, as a memorial of the Very Rev. Thomas Leishman, D.D.]

THOMAS MOFFAT, probably an old priest; reader, Nov. 1571 to 1580.

THOMAS SOMERVILLE, as parson and vicar, with consent of Hew, Lord Somerville, let the glebe and kirklands to Walter Ker of Littledean, in June 1586. — [Laing Charters, p. 278.]

JOHN BALFOUR, M.A., probably a son of William B., min. of Kelso; pres. by the Presb. jure devoluto 15th, and inst. 29th March 1610. He held Yetholm in conjunction, where, apparently, he resided. "He taught not at the kirk of Linton, because it was altogether ruinous." He dem. in April 1616 (vide Yetholm).— [Booke of the Kirk.]

ROBERT KER, pres. by Sir Robert Ker, probably of the Hirsell; first appears 1619 at Kelso on 2nd Feb. 1619, bearing a letter from Archbishop Spottiswood to the Presb., desiring them to send R. K. "to Linton to teach." He was adm. (at Peebles) in Sept. of that year. In 1621 he was accused of marrying James, eldest son of Archbishop Law, to Margaret Haultie of Mellerstain, in Smailholm Church, without proclamation of banns. "As the Archbishop had a double interest in the affair, the Presb. wrote to ask his advice, and, in reply, the prelate sent a judicious letter, which buried the matter" (Leishman's Linton). He died between 16th March and 18th May 1658. He marr. Agnes Arrat, and had issue—Jane (marr. John Ker of Lochinches); Isobel.—[Melrose Presb. Reg.] 1668 (Glasgow 1644); chaplain to James, Earl of Home; called 25th July, and adm. 22nd Sept. 1658; deprived in 1662; ministered under indulgence at West Kilbride. In 1684, refusing to give a bond that he would not minister anywhere in Scotland, he was imprisoned, and afterwards "confined to a house in Edinburgh." He returned to Linton in 1690.

JOHN BROWN, M.A.; trans. from 1664 Tinwald; pres. by William, Earl of Lothian; coll. before 30th Aug., and inst. 6th Sept. 1664; trans. to Westerkirk in 1683.

JOHN WILKIE, pres. 10th July, ord.
 1683 after 29th Aug., and inst. 19th Sept. 1683. Refusing to pray for William and Mary, he was deprived 17th Sept. 1689. He settled in Kelso, where he ministered to a congregation of Nonjurors.—[Peterkin's Constit. of the Church: MS. Acc. of Min., 1689.]

ROBERT BOYD, M.A., above noticed; 1690 restored by Act of Parliament 25th April 1690; dem. on account of age 11th May 1697. "He was a very knowing man, and of great experience in matters of discipline." He marr. Elizabeth Stirling.—[Glas. Com. Dec., 22nd April 1691; Reg. Gen. Ass., 1690; Old Dec., i.: Wodrow's Hist.]

WALTER DOUGLAS, born 1673, 1698 younger son of Douglas of Bonjedward; licen. by Presb. of Middlebie; called 20th July, and ord. 15th Sept. 1698; died between 7th Nov. and 5th Dec. 1727. He marr., and had issue—Elizabeth; Isobel (marr. Charles Douglas, min. of Cavers); Wilhelmina (marr. Dr John Tait, physician, Dalkeith). The pediment of D.'s tombstone, bearing the family arms and motto—Honor et Amor—now forms a tympanum to the vestry door of the church. Publication—Eleven Sacramental Sermons (Edinburgh, 1725).

GEORGE HALL, born 1680, son of 1728 Robert Hall of Haughhead, and grandson of Henry Hall, the Covenanter; M.A. (Edinburgh, 26th June 1699); chaplain to Pringle of Torsonce; licen. by Presb. of Earlston 8th Aug. 1706; chaplain to Thomas, Earl of Haddington; ord. to Abbotrule 23rd Sept. 1714; pres. by James Murray of Cherrytrees; trans. and adm. 24th Oct. 1728; died 30th Nov. 1740. He marr. 17th July 1716, Emily (died at Edinburgh, 1768), daugh. of Andrew Duncan, Seone, and had issue—Patrick; Gilbert; Robert, bursar of the Presb.; Jean (marr. April 1748, Colin Campbell, writer, Edinburgh). Publication—Practical Sermons on Several Subjects (Edinburgh, 1732).

JAMES TURNBULL, born Sprouston, 1743 1718; licen. by pres. of Kelso 7th Sept. 1742; pres. by John Pringle of Haining, Senator of the College of Justice, and ord. 20th July 1743; clerk of Presb.; died 13th Oct. 1780. He marr. MOREBATTLE AND MOW, OR MOLLE.

[The church of Morebattle was dedicated to St Lawrence, whose holy well is close by. The Archdeacon of Teviotdale dwelt of old at Morebattle. In the Inquest of Earl David (1115-24) there is mention of the church of Morebattle with a carucate of land belonging to the Sec of Glasgow. At the north-west end of the parish, on a height above the Kale Water, the foundations of the old church can be traced. A new church was built in 1757; a chancel and vestry were added in 1899. In the seventh century a chapel at Clifton in this parish was given to St Cuthbert by King Oswy of Northumbria. There was another chapel at Whitton.]

NENTHORN AND NEWTON DON.

[Early in the twelfth century there was at Nenthorn a chapel of the parish of Ednam. There was another at Newton Don. The ancient parochial name, written Nathansthyrne, was probably Nechtans-thorn. About 1160 Nenthorn and Newton Don both belonged to the Priory of Coldingham. In 1316 William of Lamberton, Bishop of St Andrews, granted them to the Abbey of Kelso, in exchange for Cranstoun and Preston in Midlothian. Bishop David de Bernham died here about 1252. The foundations of the ancient church of Nenthorn can still be traced in the centre of the churchyard. A church was erected in 1802 a short distance from the original site. The chapel of Newton probably stood where there is now the old burial-place of the Dons of Newton Don. The united parish, disjoined from the Presb. of Lauder, was annexed to the Presb. of Kelso, 28th May 1776.]

ROBERT CALDER, born in Morayshire, probably at Elgin, 1658. He 1689 matriculated at the Univ. and King's College, Aberdeen, 1674; graduated in 1678; min. of this parish in 1689. Deprived by the Privy Council, 3rd Sept. that year, for not reading the Proclamation declaring William and Mary king and queen, and for praying for King James. From 2nd March 1693 to 8th Jan. 1694, according to his own account, he was imprisoned in Edinburgh Tolbooth, for having exercised his ministerial functions. On being liberated he went to Aberdeen, where he officiated in his own house, using the Book of Common Prayer. On the order to shut up all Episcopal chapels in Scotland he was compelled to quit Aberdeen, and for a time resided in Elgin, where he preached. On Good Friday, 1707, he was summoned before the Privy Council for a proposed observance of the Lord's Supper on Easter Day. Not complying, he was ordered to leave Elgin, and threatened with banishment should he return within twelve miles of the city. He settled in Edinburgh, where he ministered to a congregation in Toddrick's Wynd, and died 28th May 1723. He marr. Grace Toward, who after his deprivation supported herself by conducting a school in Edinburgh. Publications—He is the reputed author of Scotch Presbyterian Eloquence Display'd (London, 1693). ROXBURGH.

[Between 1153 and 1160 Malcolm IV. granted "to the Church of St Mungo of Glasgow and to Bishop Herbert and his successors, the Church of Auld Roxburgh with all its appurtenances in the chapels and parishes, in lands and waters, in meadows and pastures, as Ascellin the Archdeacon held it in the time of King David." A church erected in 1752 has undergone various alterations. The old church was dedicated to the Holy Sepulchre. Just outside the royal burgh of Roxburgh and in this parish, stood St Peter's Priory of the Grey Friars. About a mile off, also in this parish, was St Magdalene's Hospital.]

JAMES BEATON [BETOUN, BE-1569 THUNE] (primus), of Creich and Nether Rires, Fife, second son of Robert B. of Creich, Master of the Household to Mary, Queen of Scots, and Joanna Renwall or Gryssoner, maid of honour to the Queen Dowager, Mary of Lorraine [his sister, Mary Beaton, was one of the "four Marys"]; became min. of this parish about 1569, on the deprivation of Sir John Ker (last of the Roman incumbents), who did not conform. In 1579 he succeeded his brother David in the family estates, dem., and retired to Creich. He died about 1618. He marr. JAMES SIMSON, son of preceding; adm. (colleague) Aug. 1645; trans. to Airth 28th May 1648, but was not settled there until 1650.

SAMUEL ROW, son of Archibald R., min. of Stobo; M.A. (Edinburgh 1629); obtained a charge in Ireland; adm. to Second Charge, Dunfermline, in 1638; trans. to Kirkmabreck in 1640; adm. irrespective of the Presb. by the Protesters [Livingston of Ancrum, Somerville of Ednam, Jamieson of Swinton, Ramsay of Mordington, Douglas of Hilton, Rutherford of Eccles, and Simson of Airth], all of whom were either under censure or in process before the Synod, 13th Dec. 1655. The Presb. protested, and produced evidence of undue influence by masters over servants, "overawing and terrifying them" into subscribing the call. R. was deprived by the Synod, and the charge declared vacant. He died at Edinburgh, June 1665, aged about 56. He marr. (1) 28th Feb. 1639, Margaret, daugh. of James Howburne [or Cockburn], at the Common of Fossoway, and had issue—Mary, born 16th Nov. 1639; James, apprentice to William Ramsay, merchant, Edinburgh, 18th May 1658; Margaret: (2) Margaret (buried in Greyfriars, Edinburgh, 13th Feb. 1673), daugh. of William Row, min. of Forgandenny, and had issue—Thomas.—[*Dunfermline and Torryburn Sess. JOHN GOWDIE [GOUDIE, GOLDIE], 1691 appears as a witness to baptisms at Jedburgh in 1673 and 1674, and as master of Jedburgh Grammar School, probably from 1672 to 1682. He held a charge (unidentified) within the bounds of Jedburgh Presb., from which he was trans. and adm. to this parish, 28th May 1691. He was a member of Assembly in 1692, and got 100 merks from the Town Council of Edinburgh 8th July 1692; died between 19th Oct. and 3rd Dec. 1702. He marr., and had issue—John, D.D., min. of Earlston, Principal of the Univ. of Edinburgh.—[Edin. Counc. Reg.; Reg. Gen. Ass., 1692; Watson's Jedburgh Grammar School.]

NINIAN HOME of Billie, born 5th Dec. 1670, son of Abraham H., 1704 tenant of Billieshill (descended from William H. of St Leonard's), and Isobel Trotter. He graduated M.A. at Edinburgh Univ., and became schoolmaster of Fogo and of Preston. Licen. by Presb. of Duns 7th April 1696, he was min. of Bunkle in the same year. In 1701 he was deputed by the Synod to aid in forming a Society for the improvement of the manners of the people. He was called to this charge 4th July, and adm. 29th Nov. 1704. Deposed for various offences 9th July 1716, and reponed in October following; he was again dep. for Jacobitism 14th March 1718. He died in Covenant Close, Edinburgh, 17th Dec. 1744. In the matter of finance he is said to have been most successful, and this is shown by a list of debts due to him at the time of his death. He acquired the estates of Billie and Lint-hill, and to him was due a retrieval of the fortunes of the Wedderburn family. George Home of Wedderburn joined the Rebellion of 1715, and was attainted, his estates going to the Crown. Ninian Home bought up the claims against George H., and in 1725 granted a disposition of the lands in favour of his family. He marr. (1) 7th Nov. 1700, Margaret, daugh. of James Daes, advocate, of Cowdenknowes, Earlston, and had issue—James of Billie, born 1701, died 4th April 1724; Abraham, born 1702; Abraham, born 1704; Charles, born 1705, all died young; Margaret, born 12th July 1706 (marr. Alexander Home of Manderston), and was dead by 1737; Alexander of Jardinefield, born 20th June 1709, died at Branxton, 26th March 1769; George, born 8th Sept. 1714, was wounded at Fontenoy, and died in England, 1745. [Ninian Home wished his son Alexander to marry the eldest daugh. of George Home of Wedderburn, but he refused, and marr. instead her younger sister Isobel. His father then gave him the estate of Jardinefield, and dismissed him from his presence.] (2) (cont. 21st April 1725), Margaret Home, the lady his son had previously refused to marry. By her he had issue—Ninian, born 18th March 1724, died s.p. 13th April 1740; Patrick of Billie and Wedderburn, M.P. for Berwickshire, born 22nd May 1728, died s.p. at London, 19th Dec. 1808; Isobel, born 21st March 1730, died unmarr. at London, 1753; Abraham, born 22nd March 1731, died s.p. at Edinburgh, April 1753; General David of Caldera and Wedderburn, born 30th Dec. 1732, died s.p. 30th Dec. 1809; Jean of Wedderburn, born 20th May 1734, died at Paxton, 9th Dec. 1812; Andrew, born 12th Sept. 1735, died 1st June 1740; Thomas, captain Royal Scots Fusiliers, born 24th Jan. 1737, died 6th May 1802; Margaret, born 2nd March 1738, died young; Elizabeth, born 27th March 1739, died April 1789; Abraham, born 20th Feb. 1744, died young. Ninian Home's widow was brutally attacked by her butler, Norman Ross, at Linthill House, near Eyemouth, 13th Aug. 1751, and died within three days. She was buried in the ancient Norman apse of Bunkle Church.—[*Ornam Churchyard; Chirnside Presb. and Bunkle Sess. Regs.; Lauder Tests.; Edin. Reg. (Bur.); Reg. Gen. HUME.

[St Nicholas was titular of the church of Hume, which was dedicated by Bishop Robert of St Andrews in 1147. The pre-Reformation building belonged to the monks of Kelso, and consisted of nave and chancel about 78 feet long by 21 feet broad. Ruinous in 1673, it is now represented by little more than grass-grown mounds. The parish was united to Stichill in 1640. There was a chapel in this parish at Wedderlie.]

YETHOLM.

[The earliest notice of a church at Yetholm is about the year 1233, when Nicholas de Geynevim was rector. At that period the cure belonged to the church of Glasgow. In 1406 William de Hawdin [Hadden], "laird of Kirkyethame," gave to the monks of Kelso the right of advowson. From them it passed to Patrick, Earl of Bothwell, then to the Buccleuch family, and finally to the Wauchopes of Niddrie. A church, still thatched with heather in 1836, was removed when the present building was erected. Its bell, cast by Michael Burgerhuys (1643), is still in use. A chapel in this parish, beside a burn which forms the march with England, was dedicated to St Ethelreda.]

PRESBYTERY OF JEDBURGH

ANCRUM AND LANGNEWTON.

[There was already a church at Ancrum in 1116. At Malta Walls on the farm of Copland, in the parish, the Order of St John of Jerusalem, called the Knights of Malta, had a preceptory. A new church was built at Ancrum village in 1889.]

JAMES THORNTON, received £238
1560 (Scots) as his pension from Martinmas 1559 to Whitsunday 1560, and £96 for his duties during the four months after the Queen Regent's death. He is styled Chantor of Moray and parson of Ancrum, 20th Sept. 1573.—[Treasurer's Accounts, xi., 95; Wigtown Invent. Scot. Hist. Soc., 812.]

WILLIAM JOHNSTON, a priest of the 1569 Roman Church, conformed and became reader in 1569; dep. Nov. 1572.

GEORGE JOHNSTON, probably 1572 brother of preceding; adm. to Foulden at Lammas 1572; trans. and adm. here Nov. same year. In 1574 Roxburgh, Eckford, Bedrule, and Abbotrule were in the charge. He complained to the Assembly, 1578, that Hector Douglas had been collated to his benefice. At the Assemblies of 1581 and 1586 he was appointed one of those who were to arrange Presbyteries. In 1585 he refused to subscribe the Articles drawn up by Secretary Sir John Maitland. He was trans. to Crailing before 1586, but returned here after 28th May 1588. In 1589 he was one of those appointed by the Privy Council to see that the Bond against Papists was signed by the people. In 1608 he declined the authority of a Visitor appointed by the Assembly 1602, and was deprived by the Court of High Commission, 29th June 1622, for not conforming to the Articles of Assembly 1618. He was then ordered to go into ward in Annandale when in his 73rd year. He was alive in 1631. He marr. Elizabeth Crichton, and had issue—George, min. of Orphir; Robert.—[Reg. Mag. Sig.; Laing Charters, 1596; Reg. Min. Assig. et Sec. Sig.; Edin. Presb. Reg.; Booke of the Kirk; Wodrow Miscell.; Calderwood's Hist., iii., 404.]

HECTOR DOUGLAS, coll. by James, 1578 Archbishop of Glasgow, before 24th April 1578, when the above-noticed complaint was made to the Assembly. Deprived in October following as "unmeet and unable for the office and function of the ministry." He is mentioned as min. 12th April 1582.—[Booke of the Kirk; Calderwood's Hist., iii., 431; Reg. Assig.]

WILLIAM BENNET of Grubet; M.A.
1622 (Edinburgh, 30th July 1614); pres. by James VI. 25th July 1622. He was a member of the Commission for maintaining Church Discipline 21st Oct. 1634. As Laird of Grubet he took part in the election of a commissioner from the county to the Convention of Estates. The Assembly, 10th Aug. 1643, found this to be incompatible with the ministerial calling, and recommended him to desist from all civil courts and meetings. He died between 3rd Feb. and 1st Sept. 1647, aged about 54. He marr. after 29th Jan. 1641, Margaret, eldest daugh. of William Elliott of Stobs, and had issue—William of Grubet and Widecopen. His widow marr. James Scott of Bonnington.—[G. R. Sas., xliv., 426; Reg. Sec. Sig.; Stevenson's Hist.; Bann- tyne Miscell., iii.; Maitland Miscell., iii.; Baillie's Letters; Inq. Ret. Roxburgh, 195—de Tut., 58; Jeffrey's Hist. of Roxburgh-shire, iii., 305.]

JOHN LIVINGSTON, born Monyach 1648 broch [Kilsyth], 21st June 1603.
He was the son of William L., min.
of Kilsyth, and afterwards of Lanark, said to be a descendant of the fifth Lord Livingston. His mother was Agnes, daugh. of Alexander Livingston, portioner, Falkirk, brother of the Laird of Belstane.
He was educated at the Grammar School of Stirling, and graduated M.A. at the Univ. of Glasgow in 1621. Against his father's wish, he preferred to enter the ministry rather than adopt the life of a country gentleman. He studied theology at St Andrews, and was licensed in 1625.
For a time he assisted the minister of Torphichen, and was afterwards chaplain to the Countess of Wigtown at Cumbernauld.
While engaged in the latter capacity he took part in the memorable revival at the Kirk of Shotts. He declined presentations to several parishes, chiefly on account of his reluctance to obey the Articles of Perth. In 1630 he went to Ireland, on the invitation of Viscount Clandeboyne, and became minister of Kil-linchy, Co. Down, being ordained by Andrew Knox, Bishop of Raphoe, and a company of Scottish ministers who had taken up a kind of middle position between Presby-terianism and Prelacy. In 1631 he was suspended for nonconformity, but was soon reinstated through the friendly offices of Archbishop Ussher. On 4th May 1632 he was deposed and excommunicated for the same cause. Having resolved to emigrate to America, he left Ireland in Sept. 1636, along with a number of his parishioners and other Scottish and English Puritans—140 in all. They sailed for New England in the Eagle Wing, but through contrary winds were obliged to return home. In 1638 he signed the National Covenant, and was commissioned to proceed to London with copies of it for supporters of the Scottish cause at Court. On 5th July 1638 he was admitted minister of Stranraer, where he remained for ten years. It is recorded that his half-yearly communions there were attended by as many as five hundred of his old parishioners of Killinchy. In 1640 he was chaplain of the Earl of Cassillis's Regiment in England, and wrote an account of the skirmish at Newburn, which he had witnessed. When minister of Stranraer he frequently crossed to Ulster, and officiated to the Scottish troops quartered there. In 1648 the Commission of Assembly sent him to dissuade those troops from joining with the army of the "Engagement," but his mission was a failure. On 13th July 1647, William, Earl of Lothian, presented Livingston to this parish, and he was adm. and inst. 25th April 1648. He was a member of the Commission of Assembly in 1649. Next year he was one of those appointed to negotiate with Charles II., at Breda, as to the terms on which he should receive the Crown. While the royal ships were lying at anchor off Speymouth, Livingston obtained the King's oath of fidelity to the Covenants. He did not, however, trust Charles, and soon afterwards he identified himself with those who opposed the coronation and the conduct of the government. He was asked by the General Assembly of 1650 to write a History of the Church of Scotland from 1638, but this was never completed. In Oct.

1651 he was chosen Moderator of a general meeting of the Protesters. He preached before Cromwell in London in 1654, and was authorised by the Protector to recommend candidates for vacant parishes.
Between 1655 and 1659 he declined calls to Antrim, to his former charge at Kil-linchy, and to Glasgow. He was summoned before the Privy Council 11th Dec. 1662, and, refusing to take the Oath of Allegiance, was banished. He went to Rotterdam in April 1663, where he spent his last years in almost constant study, and in the preparation of a Latin version of the Scriptures which was never published. He died 9th Aug. 1672. He is described as having been "modest in manner, sweet in temper, of retired and contemplative habits; so that, though he joined the more extreme Presbyterians, in his moderation he deeply lamented the division that had torn the Church asunder. He marr. (in St Cuthbert's Church, Edinburgh) 23rd June 1635, Janet (died at Rotterdam, 1693), eldest daugh. of Bartholomew Fleming, an Edinburgh merchant, and Marion Hamilton, and had issue—John, born 30th June 1636, died 8th Jan. 1639; William, merchant in Edinburgh, born 7th Jan. 1638, buried 12th June 1709; Bartholomew, born 3rd Sept. 1639, died 24th Sept. 1641; Agnes, born 20th Sept. 1640, died 17th Oct. 1641; Marion, born 10th Oct. 1642 (marr. John Scott, min. of Hawick); Janet, born 25th Sept. 1643 (marr. Andrew Russell, merchant, Rotterdam), died Aug. 1696; John, born 20th Aug. 1644, died Oct. 1645; Agnes, born 18th Aug. 1645 (marr. David Cleland, surgeon); James, merchant, Edinburgh, born 22d Sept. 1646, died 1700; Johanna, born Sept. died Oct. 1647; Barbara, born 21st June 1649 (marr. James Miller, merchant); John, born 29th Jan., died 12th Oct. 1652; Andrew, born Aug. 1653, died 7th Feb. 1655; Robert, ancestor of the Livingstons of Livingston Manor, New York, born 13th Dec. 1654, died April 1725; Elizabeth, born 7th Jan. 1657, died 31st Oct. 1666. Original portraits of John Livingston and his wife are at Gosford, East Lothian, and Monymusk, Aberdeenshire, and others were in the possession of Mrs Ralston Crosby, New York. JAMES SCOTT, son of Walter S. in 1665 Catslack; M.A. (Edinburgh, 22nd July 1615); adm. to Kirkton in 1616; trans. to Tongland prior to 1634; refusing to sign the Covenant, he was dep. by a Committee of General Assembly in 1639; inst. to rectory of Ford, Northumberland, 11th Dec. 1660; his deposition was annulled by James, Bishop of Galloway, before 25th Oct. 1664; he was inst. to this charge 6th Nov. 1665. A tumult arose at his settlement, for which, by sentence of the Court of High Commission, two brothers, Turnbulls of Ashieburn, both fathers of families, were transported to Virginia, their sister, a married woman, being whipped through the streets of Jedburgh, while four boys were whipped through Edinburgh, branded in the face, and sold as slaves to Barbados. He died on Friday before Whitsunday 1679. He marr. Margaret, daugh. of Gavin Maxwell, min. of Borgue, and had issue—James, apprenticed to John Scott, senior, merchant, Edinburgh, 2nd Aug. 1648. He was allowed half of the stipend, 1680.—[Dumfries Sas., iii., 275; P. C. Reg., vi., 422; Wodrow's Hist., i., 393; The Border Magazine, 1908; Naphthali; *Reg. During part of 1583 and 1584 he was in London, where he acted as a spy on Esmé, Duke of Lennox, and the French faction. To James VI.'s Essays of a Prentise (1584) he contributed a commendatory sonnet. In 1585, as "Minister of O" ("O" apparently = blank), he was paid two-thirds of the parsonage of Hawick, the above William Auchmoutie drawing the other third. In June 1586, Fowler, described as "of Hawick," is mentioned as being in the train of the Earl of Bothwell, who is known to have presented him to that rectory and vicarage. "William Fowler, persoun of Hawik," accompanied the ambassador, Sir Peter Young, to Denmark in May 1589, and took part in the negotiations which led to the marriage of James VI. and Princess Anne. He was appointed Master of Requests and Secretary-Depute to the Queen in Nov. 1589, and eventually her secretary. In Feb. 1594 he received from the Crown a grant of its third of the parsonage of Hawick. He accompanied Queen Anne to England in 1603, and died in May 1612. His eldest son, Ludovic, was "Portioner of Restalrig." Publications—Fowler was a somewhat prolific writer, but little appeared in print during his lifetime. Two MSS., containing his The Tarantula of Love and a verse translation of Petrarch's Trionfi, were presented by his nephew, William

Drummond of Hawthornden, to the University of Edinburgh in 1627. The Hawthornden MSS. in the Museum of National Antiquities, Edinburgh, include, among various pieces of his in prose and verse, an almost complete translation of Machiavelli's Prince. Fowler's work illustrates the literary influences, more particularly Italian, which prevailed at the court of James VI.—[*Edin. Univ. ALEXANDER ORROCK, born 1652, son of Alexander O. of Orrock, Fife, by his wife, Elizabeth, sister of Sir John Wemyss of Bogie. On 15th Feb. 1665 he entered St Salvator's College, St Andrews, where he graduated M.A. 25th July 1668. We do not know how or where he spent the next nineteen years, but in 1687 he was licen. by the Presb. of St Andrews. From the first, Orrock was a determined opponent of Episcopacy, conspicuously identifying himself with the views and conduct of Alexander Hamilton of Kinkel, St Andrews. Both men were more than once arrested and lodged in the Edinburgh Tolbooth, and Orrock was inhibited from preaching. On being liberated, he persisted in preaching at Dundee and St Andrews, but was seized by order of Archbishop Ross: a strong attempt at rescue was made, Orrock's friend Hamilton "beating off some who laid violent hands" on him. After the Revolution he was called to the Second Charge of St Andrews, but the Synod, 7th April 1691, refused to settle him there. On 23rd Sept. of the same year he was admitted to this charge. He was a member of Assembly in 1692. He declined calls to Peebles, Muthill, and Kelso. In 1705 he complained to the Assembly of certain Acts of Synod as being needlessly severe and oppressive. Although not a member of the Court, he attempted to speak, but was refused a hearing. He was stopped by the Moderator (Principal Carstares), and by the Lord High Commissioner (William, Marquess of Annandale), and left the Assembly only on a peremptory command. A protest against the Assembly's proceedings was made to Parliament by Fletcher of Saltoun, but being coldly received, was departed from. Fletcher pleaded for a reconciliation, which was afterwards effected. Orrock died unmarr., 23rd April 1711 [the date 1st May 1711, on memorial tablets in St Mary's and Hawick Parish churches, is an error]. He left 9000 merks for the endowment of a grammar school, a bequest still in use as the Orrock Bursary, and worth about £60. For the poor of the parish he left 1600 merks; and to the church, four silver communion cups and a baptismal basin; while to his successors in office he bequeathed his library. CHARLES TELFER, born 1693, son of Charles T., bailie of Edinburgh, and captain of the Trained Band; M.A. (Edinburgh, 17th April 1712); licen. by Presb. of Edinburgh (though at first unwilling to sign the Confession of Faith) 3rd June 1719; assistant to preceding min., 10th Sept. 1721; pres. by Anne, Duchess of Buccleuch and Monmouth, Nov. 1722; ord. 13th Jan. 1723. He preached before the Lord High Commissioner, 24th May 1730 (from Ecl. vii. 10), and next day he was called before the Committee on Overtures for certain comparisons which he had used, but was dismissed without censure. He died between 24th June and 7th July 1731. He

HOBKIRK, or HOPEKIRK, AND ABBOTRULE.

[Hobkirk, called of old Hopekirk, belonged to the Abbey of Jedburgh. The church was restored in 1914.

Abbotrule, joined for a time to Bedrule.
This parish was severed from it in 1777.
A large portion of Abbotrule was then annexed to Southdean, and the remainder was united to Hobkirk. Till the middle of the twelfth century the name of the parish was Rule Hervey. It was then granted to the Abbey of Jedburgh, and thenceforward called Abbotrule.]

THOMAS SINCLAIR, M.A. (Edinburgh, 25th July 1618); pres. by 1622 James VI. 21st July 1621; adm. after 21st Jan. 1622; dem. before 15th July 1623, "the brethren being informed he had gone to London with the Prior of Coldingham's children."—[Reg. Sec. Sig.]

JAMES KER of Grange, in the parish, 1624 born 1601, younger son of Sir John K. of Littledean, and Margaret Whytlaw; M.A. (Edinburgh, 14th July 1621); was on the Exercise in the Presb. 6th March 1623; pres. by James VI. 15th July 1623; ord. 25th Aug. 1624; deprived in 1662, and confined to the parish. Having preached to a large congregation assembled at Grange, 14th March 1680, he was libelled before the Privy Council 6th May and imprisoned, but was liberated 1st Sept., giving caution to appear when called, and promising to hold no further conventicles under a penalty of 5,000 merks. He survived the Revolution, and was restored to his charge by Act of Parliament 15th April 1690, but does not appear to have resumed work. He died in 1694—a remarkable instance of a man having been seventy years in the ministry. During the days of persecution he was abused and scoffed at by Adam Urquhart of Meldrum, commanding a party of soldiers, when he replied, "Sir, I was a minister before you had a being, and will be one when you are gone," which came true. His wife was accused of witchcraft at the Presb., but the charge was shown to be unfounded. He marr. Christian Airth, and had issue—James of Grange; Isabella and Elizabeth, both dead before Dec. 1683; Euphame; Andrew.—[Roxburgh Sas., 1637, iv., 365; Herald and Gen., vii., 516; *Reg. Sec. He signed the copy of the National Covenant which is preserved at Cavers. He marr. (cont. 15th Sept. 1610) Margaret, daugh. of John Rutherford, Sheriff-depute of Roxburghshire.—[Reg. of Deeds, xciii., 201.]

THOMAS ABERNETHY of Glencorse, 1640 son of John A. of Glencorse, was long a soldier in Germany, and was admitted to the Roman communion by an English Jesuit at Florence. He became a priest and a member of the Society of Jesus. After an absence of nine years he returned to Scotland, and was employed in Aberdeen, Elgin, and Banff, also in Caithness, (where he resided with Lord Berriedale, travelling in a disguised habit as chamberlain and bailie of his lands). He was six years "under the training of a worthy minister," and abjuring Popery was received into communion in the Greyfriars Church, Edinburgh. The Presb. consulted the Synod as to their giving him "imposition of hands," 24th Aug. 1638. He was adm. to this charge 29th April 1640, and pres. by the Presb. jure deoduto 30th Sept. following. He conformed to Episcopacy, and was still min. 28th April 1669. He marr. Anna, fourth daugh. of John Rutherford of Hunthill (by Alison Ker, daugh. of the first Lord Jedburgh), and sister of the second, third, and fourth Lords Rutherford. Lord Balmerino records having walked to Leith with her in 1717, when, he says, she was 104; but this must be a mistake. JEDBURGH.

[Called also Jedworth or Jedart. In 854, Egred, Bishop of Lindisfarne, built here a church of St Mary. A chapel with the same dedication was built by him at Old Jedart. There was another chapel at Scaesburgh, near Hunthill. St Mary's Augustinian Abbey of Jedburgh, founded in 1118, is in the parish. After the Reformation a portion of the Abbey was used as the parish church. In 1875 a handsome new church was built, mainly by the ninth Marquess of Lothian. A proposal in 1601 to form a Second Charge in Jedburgh was not carried out. (See John Boyle, p. 119.)]

PAUL METHVEN [METHUEN], 1660 originally a baker in Dundee, was an early convert to the Reformed religion. Though but imperfectly educated, he began to instruct the people in the Scriptures, and spoke so eloquently as to become obnoxious to the Bishops and the Secret Council, who issued an order for his arrest, and forbade the people to listen to him or give him shelter in their houses. He was, however, protected by Provost Haliburton, who refused to hand him over to the Council even at the royal command. He was called before the Justiciary Court at Stirling, 10th May 1559, accused of usurping the ministerial office, and of performing functions for which he had never had any legal status.
 Being found guilty, he was declared fugitive. M. was nominated by the Lords of the Congregation to this parish about 19th July 1560, and was a member of Assembly that same year and the year after. In 1562 he was deposed and excommunicated for adultery. John Knox having personally investigated the charge made against him. He fled to England and resumed preaching. On the 25th June 1566 he was permitted to appear before the General Assembly, and falling on his knees he burst into tears and desired them, for the love of God, to receive him to the open expression of his repentance. The form of his declaration of repentance enjoined by the Assembly, on the recommendation of certain of the brethren appointed to consider the matter, was, as related in Knox's History: "That he should present himself bare-foot and bare-head, arrayed in sackcloth, at the principall entry of Saint Giles Kirk, in Edinburgh, at seven hours in the morning upon the next Wednesday, and there to remain the space of an hour, the whole people beholding him, till the prayer was made, the psalmes sung, and the text of Scripture was read, and then to come into the place appointed for the expression of repentance, and tarry the time of sermon; and to do likewise the next Friday following, and also upon the Sunday; and then in the face of the whole church to declare his repentance with his owne mouth. The same forme and manner he should use in Jedwart and Dundie; and that being done, to present himself again at the next General Assembly following in winter, where he should be received to the Communion of the Church."

 It is further related:—"When the said Paul had received the said ordinance he took it very grievously, alleading that they had used over-great severity. Nevertheless being counselled and perswaded by divers notable personages he began well in Edinburgh to proceed, whereby a great number were moved with compassion of his state; and likewise in Jedwart; but he left his duty in Dundie, and passing again into England the matter, not without offence to many, ceased" (History, ii., p.
 531). Randolph relating the scandal to Cecil, says, "He has escaped into England, or was drowned in crossing the ford thitherward."—[Knox's Works, i., ii.; Booke of the Kirk; Buchanani Opera; Keith's, Spottiswood's, and Calderwood's Hists.; Knox's History, ii.; Scott's Reformers; Hailes' Ann., ii., 531; Jervise's Memorials of Augustus and the Mearns; Athenæum, 26th Dec. 1863, p. 884; Watson's Jedburgh Abbey; *Dict. ANDREW CLAYHILLS, trans. from 1574 Monifieth about 1574, when Crailing, Nisbet, Oxnam, and Southdean were all in the charge; trans. to Eckford in 1593.

JOHN ABERNETHY, son of Thomas 1593 A. of Glencorse, and Jean Straiton, one of the original students at the Univ. of Edinburgh under Rollock; M.A. (1587); reader in 1588; adm. min. 7th Aug. 1593. He was a member of Assembly in 1601, 1602, 1608, and 1616. He signed the Protest against the introduction of Episcopacy 1st July 1606, yet when Constant Moderators were set up he accepted office for the Presb. of Jedburgh, though for two years his brethren refused to acknowledge him. In 1615 he solicited appointment to the Archbishopric of Glasgow; was made D.D., a member of the Court of High Commission, and promoted to the See of Caithness, 7th Dec. 1616. It does not appear that he ever relinquished his charge at Jedburgh (Dr Hew Scott says he demitted before 15th Sept. 1635), for in the articles given in to the Presb. against James Burnet in 1639, the parishioners complain of his [Burnet's] "informal entrie," he having procured "a presentation to a place which was not vacant, but served at the time by a worthier man, Mr John Abernethie, who had neither demitted the same, nor was deposed therefrom." By the Glasgow Assembly, 1638, A. was deprived of his bishopric, and he died in 1639. He marr. (1) (cont. dated 27th April 1600), Alison, daugh. of Sir David Home of Fishwick, governor of Dumbarton Castle, and had issue—John, M.D.; Andrew, depute-governor of Edinburgh Castle; Margaret (marr. — Wauchope of Cakemuir); (2) Sir William Maxwell of Gribton; (2) (cont. dated 21st Aug. 1606), Isabella, daugh. of Patrick Murray of Philiphaugh, who survived him, and had issue—William, min. of Thurso; Anna (marr. WILLIAM GALBRAITH of Drumchapel; M.A. (Glasgow 1647); 1682 called to Bothkennar before 21st July 1654; coll. to Chirnside 25th Nov. 1662; trans. to Morebattle 24th Nov. 1668; pres. by Charles II. 22nd July, and inst. 20th Sept. 1682; deprived by the Privy Council, 29th Aug. 1689, for neither reading the Proclamation of the Estates nor praying for William and Mary, but for James VII. He carried off the Kirk Session and Presb. Records, the latter of which were recovered from his grandson

sixty years afterwards. He marr. 6th Oct. 1672, Dorothea Ker, widow of William Moir of Otterburn. She purchased the estate of Corbethouse.—[Reg. Sec. Sig.; MS. Acc. of Min., 1689; Rule's Sec. Violation; Morrison's Dict., xviii.; Peterkin's Constitution of the Church.]

GABRIEL SEMPLE, born 1632, second 1690 son of Sir Bryce S. of Catcart, Sheriff of Renfrew; educated at Hamilton and Univ. of Glasgow; M.A. (1653); licen. by Presb. of Glasgow in 1657; ord. to Kirkpatrick-Durham 26th May 1657; deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decree of Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. It is said he offered, if his people would stand by him, to remain and brave the terrors of the Privy Council, but that the people had not sufficient courage. He became one of the most noted of the field-preachers, took part in the Pentland Rising, and went on itinerating missions to Ireland and the north of England. He officiated at Ford, Northumberland, during the ill-health of the incumbent, and dispensed the Communion to great multitudes of people, many of whom resorted to his ministrations even from Scotland. On 6th Feb. 1679 he was declared traitor, and a reward of 3000 merks was offered for his capture, and the proclamation added that if any one in pursuit should hurt or slay him, he should not be called in question for the deed, but should be considered to have done his country "good and acceptable service." In June 1681, after numerous escapes, he was seized in the house of his nephew, Sir Patrick Hepburn, at Blackcastle, near Cockburnspath, and committed to the Canongate Tolbooth, but was liberated three months later, on giving bond to the amount of 10,000 merks. He withdrew to England, where he remained till the death of Charles II. After the Revolution, though restored by the Act of Parliament, he did not return to his former charge, but accepted a call to this parish, and was adm. 29th Oct. 1690. He wished Thomas Boston to be his colleague. Boston paid him a visit, heard him preach, and sums up his impressions of the old man: "The things he insisted on were common and ordinary, but were delivered in such a manner, and such power accompanied them, that I was amazed, and they went out through me and in through me, so that I said in my heart—'Happy are those that hear thy wisdom.'" He died 8th Aug. 1706. Two years' stipend, due to him by the heritors of Kirkpatrick-Durham during his exile, he devoted to the maintenance of a schoolmaster in the parish, but this was never fully paid. He marr. (1) Margaret, daugh. of Sir Patrick Murray of Blackcastle, and had issue—Samuel, min. of Liberton; (2) Alison (died at Ford), daugh. of Sir Walter Riddell of that ilk, and had issue—Janet (marr., cont. 23rd April 1697, Walter Home of Bassendean); (3) Margaret, daugh. of Sir Robert Carr of Etal.—[Wodrow's Hist., ii. 234, iii. 267-9; Douglas's Baronage, 468; Boston's Memoirs; Acts of Parl., ix.; Memoir of William Veitch; Lee's Memorial; Book of Kirkpatrick-Durham; Stewart's Covenanters of Teviotdale, 77.]

PRESBYTERY OF EARLSTON, SOMETIME CALLED LAUDER.

[Disjoined from the Presbytery of Melrose or Selkirk, and, along with Gordon and Smailholm from the Presbytery of Kelso, erected by George, Archbishop of St Andrews, in 1613. The Presbytery of Melrose sent two of its number, 29th Aug. 1615, to wait on the succeeding bishop, "that they may suit for the returning of their brother of Ersilton to our Presb. again," but without effect. The seat of Presbytery was transferred to Lauder by the General Assembly, 31st May 1768, but was restored to Earlston in 1876. The Register begins 5th March 1691.]

CHANNELKIRK, OF OLD CHILDESCHIRCHE.

[The original church is believed to have been built between the seventh century and the ninth. The monks of Dryburgh (circa 1248) claimed that it was the mother and parish church of the whole of Lauderdale. It was built in honour of St Cuthbert, and named Childeschirche, or the Child's Kirk. Cuthbert spent part of his boyhood "on the southern slopes of the Lammermoors which surround the upper part of the vale of the Leader." He became a monk of Melrose. Hugh de Moreville of Lauderdale gave the church to the Abbey of Dryburgh in the twelfth century, and it continued under that Abbey till the Reformation. It was consecrated by Bishop David de Bernham, 23rd March 1241. There were chapels in the parish at Glogelt and Carfrae.]

EARLSTON.

[The church was originally a chapel under Edrom. Walter de Lindsay granted it to the monks of Kelso, who, in 1171, exchanged it with the Priory of Coldingham for the church of Gordon. It was dedicated by Bishop David de Bernham, 20th March 1242. A handsome new church, was opened 6th July 1892. A hospital existed here in very early times, but is meagrely mentioned in ancient records. In Earlston a yearly fair is held on St Peter's Day, 29th June.]

LEGERWOOD.

[A church existed here in the early part of the twelfth century, when mention is made of John, "priest of Ledgaresude." About the same period the church passed into the possession of the Abbey of Paisley, and was held by it till the Reformation. Part of the old church remains, of which a finely-moulded Norman arch is the most prominent feature. The church was restored in 1898. There was a hospital of St Mary Magdalen at Morriston.]

WESTRUTHER, OF OLD BASSENDEAN.

[Previous to the Reformation the church, dedicated to St Mary, belonged to the nunnery of Coldstream. The parish was united to Gordon in 1617, but again disjoined. Afterwards the Presb. found it expedient that the kirk of Bassendean should be disunited and separated from Gordon. This being recommended by the Synod also, and advised by the General Assembly, 16th June 1646, the parish was disjoined by the Commissioners for Plantation of Kirks, 30th June 1647, and "the parishioners, or some of the best affected, bigged a kirk instead of that which was altogether ruinous and fallen down." By Act of Parliament, 2nd March 1649, the kirk was ordered to be transported from Bassendean to Westruther. In the parish were the chapel of Wedderlie and the White Chapel of Spottiswood, vide The Border Magazine, Jan. 1903.]

PRESBYTERY OF SELKIRK, FORMERLY MELROSE

[The erection of this Presbytery was undertaken by the General Assembly in April 1581. In 1613 a number of its parishes were incorporated in the new Presbytery of Earlston then formed. Melrose was made the Presbytery seat, and so remained till 1640, when it was again changed to Selkirk. The only remaining Record of Melrose Presbytery begins 6th Jan. 1607, and terminates 12th Jan. 1619; another, beginning 1639 and ending 1652, has been lost. Those of Selkirk commence 10th Feb. 1691.]

THOMAS BOSTON, born Duns, 17th 1707 March 1676, son of John B. (who suffered imprisonment in the cause of nonconformity) and Alison Trotter; educated at the Grammar School of Duns;

was employed by Alexander Cockburn, notary; M.A. (Edinburgh, 9th July 1694), his whole expenses at college being £10, 14s. 7½d. sterling; became schoolmaster of Glencairn in 1695; res. 8th Feb. 1696; was thereafter tutor to young Andrew Fletcher of Aberlady, and chaplain to his stepfather, Colonel James Bruce of Kennet; licen. by Presb. of Duns and Chirnside 15th June 1697; officiated in vacant parishes in the Presb. of Stirling in 1698; ord. to Simprim 21st Sept. 1699; clerk of Synod in 1701; called by the Presb. jure devoluto 24th Jan. 1706; adm. 1st May 1707, the day of the Union of Scotland and England; died 20th May 1732. He and eleven others gave in a Representation and Petition to the General Assembly of 1721 against an Act passed in the previous year condemning The Marrow of Modern Divinity. The Assembly of 1722 directed that the ministers who had signed the Representation should be rebuked by the Moderator. That was done, and a protest prepared by Boston was not received, but was subsequently printed by the protesters. Boston's own writings, together with his devout life and exemplary pastoral labours, contributed greatly to the popularity of the doctrines contained in the Marrow. His communions were attended by crowds from all parts, and he was one of the most influential figures in the Church life of his time. His theology was essentially Calvinistic. A narrow literalism dominated his interpretation of the Scriptures, and he regarded even the Hebrew accents as divinely inspired. He marr. 17th July 1700, Katherine (died 4th March 1737), fifth daugh. of Robert Brown of Barhill, Culross, a medical practitioner, and had issue—Katharine, born 24th May 1701, died in 1702; John, chamberlain to the Duke of Buccleuch at Langholm, born 29th April 1702, died in 1757 [his son became an admiral of the British Navy; for an interesting notice of him, vide Memoir of Caroline Herschel]; Robert, born 21st March 1704, died 26th Jan. 1705; Jane, born 1st Nov. 1705 (marr. 2nd Dec. 1736, James Russell of Ashiestiel), died in 1765; Ebenezer, born 23rd April 1707, died 8th Sept. 1707; Ebenezer, born 4th Aug. 1708, died 10th Oct. 1708; Thomas, born 9th Feb. 1710, died 30th April 1712; Alison, born 8th June 1711 (marr. James Anderson, farmer, Altrive), died in 1765; Thomas, his successor in the parish; Katharine, born 15th July 1715, died 12th March 1716. Publications—The Everlasting Espousals [sermon on Hosea ii. 19] (1715; frequently reprinted); Reasons for Refusing the Abjuration Oath in its latest Form (1719); Human Nature in its Fourfold State (Edinburgh, 1720; 2nd ed., 1729; numerous reprints); Queries to a Friendly Adviser (1722); Marrow of Modern Divinity, with Notes (1726); The Mystery of Christ in the Form of a Servant (1727). HENRY DAVIDSON, born 1687, son of 1714 a gardener or farmer in the parish of Eckford; M.A. (Edinburgh, 27th April 1705); licen. by Presb. of Jedburgh 5th March 1712; called 10th Aug., and ord. 21st Dec. 1714. He was the last survivor of the Twelve who petitioned the Assembly, 11th May 1721, against the Act condemning the Marrow of Modern Divinity. About 1735, he discontinued the observance of the Communion in his parish, and frequently went down to Maxton on Sunday nights to join in the Communion of a small body of Glassites there. He expressed a willingness to resign his charge, but his people would not hear of it, and the Presb. being equally solicitous that he should remain, attending only to those parts of his office he felt himself at liberty to perform, he remained min. till his death, 24th Oct. 1756. He marr. 23rd Feb. 1727, Katherine (died in childbed, 6th Feb. 1728), daugh. of Sir James Scott of Gala and Eupham Douglas of Cavers. Publications—The fulness of the Godhead dwelling in Christ, a sermon; Dark Providences to be admired, not curiously pry'd into, two sermons; Letters to Christian Friends [with memoir, probably by Robert Douglas, D.D.] (Edinburgh, 1811).—[Boston's Mem.; Scots Mag., xviii.; Border Counties Magazine, 1881; Hall's Galashiels, 197.]

ROBERT DOUGLAS, born Kenmore, 1770 19th July 1747, son of John D., min. of Kenmore, afterwards of Jedburgh; educated at Marischal College and Univ. of Aberdeen; licen. by Presb. of Haddington 5th Sept. 1769; pres. by Hugh Scott of Gala 5th March, and ord.
19th July 1770; D.D. (King's College, Aberdeen, 1797); died 15th Nov. 1820. By his efforts and by his becoming security for the capital required, the manufactures of the then small village of Galashiels were largely founded and extended. His share in thus promoting the prosperity of Galashiels and the grateful recognition of his people, form an interesting feature in the history of the town. He has been termed the Father of Galashiels. It was from him Sir Walter Scott purchased the small estate on which Abbotsford was built, and he was the minister to whom the thirteenth of Paul's Letters to his Kinsfolk is addressed, in which are several allusions to his intimacy with Sir Walter. He marr. 4th June 1784, Robina (died 1st Oct. 1837, aged 82), daugh. of Edward Lothian, jeweller, Edinburgh, and had issue—John,
born 4th April 1786, died 11th Oct. 1787;

KENNETH MACLEAY PHIN, born 1841 23rd April 1816, son of Robert P., min. of Wick; educated at Univ.
of Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. of Caithness 25th Nov. 1837; pres. by Hugh Scott of Gala; ord. 14th May 1841; convener of Army and Navy Chaplains Committee 1863-88; D.D. (Edinburgh 1869); convener of Home Mission Committee, 1869-88; dem.
17th Nov. 1870; Moderator of Assembly in 1877; convener of Business Committee of the General Assembly, 1879-87; died 12th Jan. 1888. As a young minister he took a prominent part in the measures then taken for defending, strengthening, and encouraging the Church of Scotland, which had been greatly weakened by the Secession of 1843. He was successful in obtaining from Government the recognition of the claims of Presbyterian soldiers and sailors to the benefits of the ministry of the Church of Scotland. He brought to the Convenership of the Home Mission Scheme administrative talents of a high order, and gave his services with a power, courtesy, and tact which were universally acknowledged. He was a learned Church lawyer, a debater of remarkable readiness and vigour, and leader of the Assembly for many years.

A fund of £1000 raised in his memory, provides a grant of "not less than £12 and not more than £20 as an extra allowance towards the support of licentiates or ministers of the Church of Scotland labouring as missionaries, but not as parish ministers, within defined districts containing populations of at least 1000, and chiefly composed of the poorer classes." His portrait is in the offices of the Church. He marr. 9th March 1852, Margaret Thomson (died 3rd June 1905, s.p.), daugh. of James Pitcairn, M.D., Edinburgh. of Nithsdale and Annandale. In 1607 he was called before the Privy Council for acting as clerk to the Synod which disobeyed the Acts of Assembly 1606 regarding a constant Moderator, and was charged to enter into ward at Blackness within forty-eight hours. He signed the Protest for the Liberties of the Kirk 27th June 1617; was cited before the Court of High Commission in 1622, but through the intercession of a friend, he was not called. He died before 26th May 1634, aged about 70. He bequeathed £72 for the use of the parish.
He marr., and had issue—John.—[Booke of

MELROSE.

[The church of Melrose, dedicated to St Cuthbert, belonged to Melrose Abbey. In the parish, between two and three miles down the Tweed from the parish church, stood the ancient abbey of Old Melrose, founded about 650. It was at first a cell of St Aidan's Monastery of Lindisfarne. St Eth (or Eata) was its first abbot. Following him were St Bosel and St Cuthbert. The later Cistercian Abbey of St Mary at Melrose is also in the parish, and near the church. It was founded by David I. in 1136, its site being then called Fordel. There was a chapel in the parish of Melrose at Gattonside, and another near Blainslie, dedicated to St Cuthbert, and known as Childhills Chapel. There were also the chapels of St Cuthbert at Old Melrose, St Columba at Columslie, and St Mary of the Park at Blainslie. At Melrose there were the Holy Wells of St Mary, St William, and St Dunstan. St Helen's Well is at Darnick. At Columslie (now Colmslie) was St Colum's Well. In the Tweed at Old Melrose is a rapid of the stream called the Holy Wheel. A fair was held on St Martin's Day.]

JAMES PONT [KYL PONT or KYN-1662 PONT], younger son of John P. of Shyresmill, and Catherine Murray of Tullibardine, and brother of Robert P., min. of St Cuthbert's; educated at St Leonard's College, St Andrews, 1550-4; app. by the General Assembly, 2nd July 1562, "to minister the word and sacraments till next Assembly"; he became, 30th Dec. that year, chaplain to John, Lord Erskine, afterwards Earl of Mar, and Regent. The brethren appointed in Oct. 1581 for establishing Presbyteries were enjoined to co-operate with him in the setting up of such within the diocese of Dunblane. He was commissary of Dunblane from 11th July 1598 to 2nd July 1602, and died on or shortly after the latter date. He marr. JOHN KNOX, born about 1555, said to 1584 have been son of William K., min. of Cockpen, and a grand-nephew of the Reformer; M.A. (St Andrews 1575); ord. to Lauder in 1576; trans. and adm. in 1584. He was a member of at least fourteen General Assemblies. He declined to subscribe the Articles of Religion promulgated by Maitland of Lethington; was Moderator of Synod Oct. 1586; a commissioner app. by the Privy Council, 6th March 1589, for the preservation of religion within the sheriffdom of Edinburgh. In 1596 he was one of the commissioners for the South, who were directed to meet daily with the Presb. of Edinburgh to consult as to the means to be taken for resisting the measures of the excommunicated earls and their adherents. In the Assembly of 1601 he refused to vote for the translation of ministers recommended by the King, and having declined the office of constant Moderator of Presb. he was outlawed. By 1608 he was once more in favour, and was app. Visitor of the kirks throughout Dumfriesshire. He was a member of the Falkland Conference 4th May 1609. He led the resistance to the re-establishment of Episcopacy, and vigorously opposed the Articles of Perth. He died in 1623. He marr. Christian Paterson, who survived him, and had issue—Margaret (marr. Thomas Ker, ancestor of Kippilaw).—[Reg. Assig.; Calderwood's Hist., iv., v., vi., vii. (see General Index); *Reg. Sec. THOMAS FORRESTER, M.A. (St An-1627 drews, 22nd July 1608). He was recommended for Ayr by the Archbishop of Glasgow 10th March 1623, but a week later the session of that parish agreed, "after they had convocated the hail body of the town," to send a commissioner to the archbishop showing "that he was not meet to be minister among them." Nevertheless he was pres. by James VI. 10th April, but further proceedings are not on record. He became min. here about 1627. In 1634 the parish consisted of an area of seven miles by four, with about two thousand communicants; a proposal was made for a collegiate min., but this was not carried out. He was dep. 11th Dec. 1638, probably on account of his prelatie tendencies. He died in 1642, aged about 54. He marr.

ST BOSWELLS OR ST BOSEL'S, (FORMERLY LESSUDDEN).

[The church of Lessudden, dedicated to St Mary, belonged to the Abbey of Dryburgh. In it was an altar of St Margaret the Virgin, and near the church was St Margaret's Croft. In 1652 the parish church was removed from Lessudden to St Bosel's village, where it took the place of an earlier chapel of that saint. Near this village are St Boswell's Well, St Boswell's Burn, St Boswell's Lands, and St Boswell's Green. There was also St Cuthbert's Well. On the Green St Boswell's Fair is held in summer. The spelling Boswell is quite modern.]

SELKIRK.

[Called of old Shielkirk or Scheleskirk.
 The church, dedicated to St Mary, belonged to the Abbey of Kelso.

In the twelfth century the parish church was known as the Abbot's Kirk, to distinguish it from the King's Kirk, this being the name given to the new Tironensian Monastery of St John founded here by David I. This latter foundation was suppressed in 1128, and its revenues given to the Abbey of Kelso then founded.

Near the town, and within the parish, were St Helen's Loch and St Helen's Shaw. Selkirk had a fair of St Laurence.]

JAMES CANARIES [probably MAC- 1685 ANRIAS], son of Thomas C., min. of Kinnaird; was a distinguished student at the Univ. of St Andrews previous to 1659, and entered on trials for license before the Presb. of Perth 14th Jan. 1671, but went to Rome, where he entered the Roman Church. On his return to Scotland he was employed as a teacher in the Presb. of St Andrews in 1681, and petitioned to be again received into communion with the Reformed Church. The Presb. admitted him, 15th Jan 1682, after he had discoursed at great length on the temptations he was under to make defection, and the motives, convictions, and inducements that made him "nauseat" Romanism. He was licen. 24th Oct. 1683; pres. by James VII. 20th Feb., and adm. before 29th May 1685; D.D. (St Andrews 1686). He was accused before the Privy Council, 17th Sept. 1689, of not reading the Proclamation of the Estates and praying that God would restore James VII. These charges were found not proven, and he was acquitted; but later he abandoned his pastoral work, and the parish was declared vacant 23rd Oct. 1691. In Jan. 1692 he was one of a considerable number who petitioned the General Assembly to be received into communion, but without effect. He went to England and became rector of Abington, Cambridgeshire, where he died. He marr. Anne Erskine, second daugh. of James, Earl of Buchan. SYNOD OF DUMFRIES

[THE RECORDS begin 14th April 1691.]

PRESBYTERY OF LOCHMABEN

[The General Assembly resolved to erect this Court in April 1581, but the Presbytery does not appear till 26th Sept. 1638, when commissioners were elected for the coming Assembly. The Presbytery Register commences 23rd June 1701. The first volume which was recovered out of a snuff-shop, is very imperfect, only a hundred and eighteen leaves remaining out of a hundred and eighty-seven. Blanks occur afterwards from 26th May 1706 to 17th March 1708, from 30th March 1718 to 4th Nov. 1730, from 1st July 1746 to 26th Oct. 1747, from 13th April to 3rd Aug. 1773, and from 7th Aug. 1781 to 1st Oct. 1782.]

APPLEGARTH AND SIBBALDBIE.

[These parishes were united in 1609. On the 7th of July 1300, Edward I. of England, on his way to the siege of Caerlaverock Castle, made offerings at the altars of St Nicholas and St Thomas the Martyr in the church of Applegarth. St Thomas was the Saint of the day, and St Nicholas may have been the patron of the church. There was a chapel at Dinwiddie, in the parish of Applegarth, also a Well of St Michael. The church of Sibbaldbie belonged to the Abbey of Jedburgh.]

KIRKPATRICK-JUXTA AND DUNGREE.

[Kirkpatrick in Annandale was named in the fifteenth century Kirkpatrick-Juxta, to distinguish it from four other churches of St Patrick in the See of Glasgow, namely, Kirkpatrick - Irongray, Kirkpatrick - Durham, Kirkpatrick - Fleming, and Kirkpatrick in Nithsdale, now joined to Closeburn. This Kirkpatrick was styled Juxta as being the nearest of the five to Glasgow, the seat of the Bishop.

At Langbedholm in this parish, called of old Lanbethlem, the Brethren of the Order of the Star of Bethlehem had a hospital. There was also in the parish a chapel of St. Bride. Dungree, or Dumgree, which belonged to the Abbey of Kelso, was united to this parish in the seventeenth century.]

[On the occurrence of the vacancy in 1722 three presentations were issued by competing patrons. These, with consent of parties, the Assembly, 20th May 1723, referred to the Commission, which ordered the Presb. to test the wishes of the people, and report. A vast majority were in favour of William Carlyle, min.
of Cummertrees, who, on a petition from the parishioners, had been pres. by George I. 15th Jan. 1723, but the Presb.
not being favourable to his appointment invited Edward Bunclie, M.A. Bunclie was called 17th Aug., and ord. 27th Sept.
1723. His settlement was declared null and void by the Commission 13th Nov. following. The Presb. was ordered to proceed with the admission of Carlyle, and, in case of refusal, the Synod was empowered to ordain him by a committee of its number. This was done 10th March 1724. The Assembly found, 22nd May following, that the Commission had exceeded its powers, and set aside the whole proceedings, ordering a new call to be moderated, that the true choice of the people might be undoubtedly known. The Lord Advocate Dundas signified his hope that "his Majesty would not insist on a presentation in opposition to what should be the choice of the parish." The Presb. was reprov'd, and the Synod recommended to "bury all the heats this affair had created." Both were advised not to enter any papers not already recorded, "that all memory of the differences that had arisen might be utterly extinguished." —[Wodrow's Anal. and Corresp.; Acts of Ass., 1723, 1724.]

[The church was dedicated to St Cuthbert. There was in the parish a chapel of St Bernard.]

JOHN HAITLIE [or HASTIE], M.A. (Edinburgh, 25th July 1618); min. in 1632; died before Sept. 1659. His widow, Alison Stewart, had £50 allowed by Parliament in consideration of his being a sufferer for loyalty. He had issue—Margaret, buried Sept. 1659.—[Acts of Parl., vii.; Paterson's Wamphray.]

JOHN BROWN, probably born and educated at Kirkcubright; M.A. (Edinburgh, 24th July 1630). Though noticed as a minister by Samuel Rutherford in his correspondence as early as 1637, he was probably not settled here earlier than 1655. He was deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decree of Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. On 6th Nov. thereafter, he was accused of reproaching some of his brethren, calling them "perjured knaves and villains," for attending the Diocesan Synod at Glasgow, and was sentenced to be kept a "close prisoner in the Tolbooth of Edinburgh." After being there five weeks, to the impairing of his health and danger of his life, he petitioned for a release. This was granted on condition of "obliging himself to remove and depart off the king's dominions, and not to return without licence from his majesty and council, under pain of death." He went to Rotterdam in March 1663, and ministered in the Scots Church there. In 1677, in consequence of repeated representations from King Charles, B. and two others were ordered by the Dutch Government to withdraw from Rotterdam. He retired to Utrecht, but returned to Rotterdam in 1678, and died there in Sept. 1679. Shortly before his death, he took part in the ordination of Richard Cameron. He was aged about 69, and apparently unmarr. His wealth consisted in his library. He bequeathed by his will, dated 2nd April 1676, "one hundred guineas to the poor of the Scottish congregation, Rotterdam, after the selling of his books," "specially excepting the Complutensian Bible in six volumes, which he gave to his endeared friend and brother, Robert M'Ward." Publications—An Apologeticall Relation of the Sufferings of Ministers and Professors of the Church of Scotland (anon., 1665; Edinburgh, 1846); Libri duo: in priori Wolzopium, . . . in posteriori Lamberti Velthusii (Amstel, 1670); De causa Dei contra Anti-Sabbatarios, 2 vols. GEORGE DEMPSTER, pres. by 1685 William Johnstone of Wamphray 6th July 1685.

THOMAS DOUGLAS, M.A. (Edinburgh, 23rd May 1655); ord. to a charge (unidentified) in London. Decree of the Privy Council was passed against him and other mins., 16th July 1671, for holding conventicles. He was denounced as a rebel, 16th July 1674, and letters of intercommuning were issued against him 3rd Aug. following. On 29th May 1679, he and Robert Hamilton, brother of the Laird of Preston, with about eighty armed men, rode into Rutherglen, burned at the Cross all the Acts of the Scottish Parliament obnoxious to civil and religious liberty from 1660 till that date, and affixed to the Cross a declaration why they had done so. He was present at Drumclog, and spent the next few years preaching to the Covenanters of the South of Scotland. He ultimately found his way to London, where he seems to have remained until his admission to this parish in 1690. He died in the end of 1695, aged about 60, leaving, in poor circumstances, a widow whose name is unknown. She sold a debt of 700 merks to the succeeding incumbent for £5 and a tombstone for her husband. It is said the latter condition was never fulfilled.—[Wodrow's Hist., iii., 90, 231; Wightman's Just Reply; Law's Memorials; MS. Acc. of Min., 1689; Lives of Peden and Cargill; Treasury of the Scottish Covenant.]

JOHN TAYLOR, ord. 4th March 1697; 1697 suspended (by the Synod) 10th April 1715 for altering the marches of his glebe, and other misdemeanours. He declined the Court's authority, and joined two other mins. in forming a Presb. This lasted a very short while, yet not without injury to the interests of religion in the parish. A representation by the Presb. was made to the General Assembly, 9th May 1716, giving a long narrative of T.'s disorders and irregularities, and craving the Assembly to take definite steps for his removal. On 26th May 1718 the Presb. was enjoined to warn him to abstain from his disorderly and schismatical courses, "and if he do so, that they stop their proceeding, but if he continue disorderly and contumacious, they appoint the Presb. to proceed to a sentence of excommunication." He was deposed shortly afterwards, and retired to the parish of Eskdalemuir, but returned to Annanholm, Wamphray, where he died Nov. 1745. His funeral was met by the Jacobite army under the command of Lord George Murray, then proceeding to Dumfries, all of whom doffed their bonnets as they passed. At the churchyard, however, some of the farmers' horses were carried off by the Highlanders. He marr. Lilius Proudfoot, who died 26th Oct. 1748.

PRESBYTERY OF LANGHOLM

[Erected by the General Assembly of 1743 from the Presbytery of Middlebie, now called Annan. At that time the parish of Castleton was taken from the Presbytery of Jedburgh, and added to this new Presbytery of Langholm.]

The Register of the Presbytery's proceedings, beginning 9th Nov. 1743, has several blanks. One of these extends from 5th May 1762 to 18th Nov. 1778. By special agreement, this Court holds also the Records of the Presbytery of Middlebie or Annan from 23rd June 1703 to 30th Jan. 1717.]

CANONBIE.

[The church, commonly spoken of as the Kirk of Liddal, was dedicated to St Martin. It belonged to the Priory of Canonbie, and passed with it under the jurisdiction of the Abbey of Jedburgh.]

At Halgreen, or Hailygreen, in the parish, Turgot of Rossdall founded in 1150 a Priory of Canons Regular of St Augustine. This became known as the Canonbie, and gave its name to the parish. In 1542, after the battle of Solway Moss, the English troops destroyed the Priory of Canonbie.

The parish of Wauchope was united by Parliament to Canonbie before 1609, but was soon disjoined again.]

PRESBYTERY OF ANNAN, FORMERLY MIDDLEBIE

[The erection of this Presbytery was proposed in the General Assembly of 1581. The new Court, when erected, was entitled the Presbytery of Middlebie, and under this name it appears in 1638. It was mainly out of this Presbytery that in 1743 the General Assembly founded the new Presbytery of Langholm. The meeting-place of this Court was then changed from Middlebie to Annan, and its name was altered accordingly. At the same time the parishes of Cummertrees and Ruthwell were taken from the Presbytery of Lochmaben and added to this jurisdiction.]

The Register begins 12th April 1699. The second volume was left in possession of the Presbytery of Langholm by special agreement. There are blanks in the Records of Middlebie from 1st Nov. 1721 to 26th June 1723, and in those of Annan from 5th May 1762 to 18th Nov. 1778; the attestation of the Synod, 19th April 1803, states that from 6th Oct. 1784 to 21st Oct. 1800 there are many sederunts in different months, amounting to seven years, totally wanting, and six months' sederunts at different months recorded in part only. These later Records were made up from scattered minutes, etc., by the zeal and diligence of the Rev. Dr Duncan, Ruthwell. The Separate Register of this Presbytery, commencing in 1744, has been missing since 1841.]

(St Andrews, 17th Nov. 1823); Moderator of Assembly 16th May 1839. Joined the Free Church; min. of Ruthwell Free Church, 1843-6; died 12th Feb. 1846. A man of many-sided accomplishments, he was a gifted artist, excelling in sketching and modelling, and as a landscape gardener he had few equals. He was well versed in literature and science, especially in geology, his identification of the footprints of extinct animals in the new red sandstone formation of Corncockle Quarry contributing not a little to revolutionise that science. His chief claim to remembrance was his institution of Savings Banks, the first of which he established at Ruthwell, May 1810. By his efforts the scheme found abundant support and increased in popularity all over the country. He discovered and restored the celebrated runic Rood of Ruthwell. He raised and was captain of a company of volunteers at the time of the threatened French invasion; and he founded and edited for seven years the Dumfries and Galloway Courier. Thomas Carlyle wrote of him as "the amiablest and kindest of men; to me pretty much a unique, the one cultivated man whom I could feel myself permitted to call friend as well." He marr. PRESBYTERY OF DUMFRIES

[In 1581 the General Assembly resolved to establish this Court. It is named in the list of Presbyteries given in to the General Assembly by the Lord Clerk Register in 1586. It then comprised all the parishes now included in the Synod of Dumfries. At some time previous to 1638, it was divided into four, constituting the Synod of Dumfries. The Records of the Presbytery begin 5th April 1647. There is a blank during the time of Episcopacy, from 6th Aug. 1661 to 9th Nov. 1687.] and consulted by John, Viscount Mel-fort, Secretary of State for Scotland, as to the propriety of repealing the penal statutes. He had the offer of a bishopric, which he declined. He purchased the estate of Almorness, parish of Buittle, 14th March 1688, and on the 22nd those of Broomhill and Floors. In Sept. and Oct. of that year his house and church were searched by dragoons for arms and ammunition under suspicion of concealment, and in Dec. he was deprived for not praying for William and Mary. He died at Broomhill, 17th May 1716. "He was of good learning, well skilled in divinity, law, physic, and history; of tall stature and fair complexion." Dr John Hutton, M.P. for the Dumfries Burghs, physician to King William III. and Queen Anne, originally a herd lad in B.'s service and assisted by B. in obtaining education, built in 1708 at his own expense a manse for the minister, and bequeathed to the parish £1000 for pious and educational purposes, and to the Presb. of Dumfries a valuable library. The money was invested in the purchase of the estate of Barclay, parish of Colvend, which has become very valuable and is now administered by Governors, and known as "The Hutton Bequest." before the Privy Council 24th March 1663, when he promised to obey the Acts of Parliament and Council, remove from the parish, and desist from preaching. He went to Leith, but in July 1664 he was charged with holding conventicles. At his examination he addressed Sharp as "sir," instead of "your grace." The Earl of Rothes demanded if Smith knew who the President was. "Yes, my lord," replied Smith, "I speak to James Sharp, once a fellow-minister with myself." On account of this answer, Rothes ordered the hangman to put the minister in irons in "The Thieves' Hole," in Edinburgh Tolbooth. On 9th Jan. 1666 he was removed into what was called the Iron House, and on 23rd March of same year he was banished to Shetland. In 1668 he was in Burntisland, and after a short confinement there, was transferred to North Ronaldshay. After four years he returned to Edinburgh, and died at the Castlehill, 21st Feb. 1673. ST MICHAEL'S, DUMFRIES.

[Previous to the Reformation the churches in Dumfries were St Michael's, which belonged to the Abbey of Kelso, the chapel of St Bride in the Castle, the chapel of St Thomas, which was gifted to the Abbey of Kelso by William the Lion, the chapel of the Holy Cross, erected by the widow of Sir Christopher Seton (sister of Robert Bruce), and the church of the Franciscan Monastery. Of these, St Michael's alone has had an uninterrupted ministerial succession. The present church was built on the original site in 1745; the tower or spire was erected five years earlier, as an adjunct to the older building. There were in the old church a chapel of St Gregory and an altar of St Ninian. At Over-Kelwood, in the south of the parish, there was a chapel of St Laurence, with a hermitage attached to it.]

NINIAN DALZELL, min. in 1567;

1605 THOMAS RAMSAY, son and heir of Thomas R., maltman, burgess of Canongate, and nephew of Andrew Scott, wright, Leith, whom he succeeded as heir; M.A. (Edinburgh, 19th Aug. 1595). He was appointed at Candlemas 1604 to supply some of the Edinburgh churches, for which he received £40 from the Town Council 20th July 1605; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 15th Feb., and adm. before 16th Oct. 1605; nominated constant Moderator of Presb. by the Assembly in 1606, the Presb. being charged to receive him within twenty-four hours, under pain of rebellion. He was a member of Assembly, 1608, 1610, and 1618, and of the Court of High Commission March 1610 and 4th Oct. 1634. In 1626 he headed an attempt to capture a Roman Catholic priest who had said mass in Dumfries. The priest escaped, but his vestments and silver vessels were seized. In 1634, on the complaint of R., the Town Council punished a parishioner who had married a Roman Catholic, and some women who had attended mass. In 1637 he was one of two ministers appointed to appear along with ten noblemen and others before the Privy Council, on behalf of those who opposed the introduction of the new Service-book. He died shortly afterwards. He marr. SECOND CHARGE.

[In 1657 the Town Council of the burgh met with the inhabitants, when it was resolved that "having before their eyes the glory of God, the propagation of the Gospel, and the putting down of sin and iniquity in the place," and its being impossible for one minister to discharge all the duties of the ministry in this large congregation, they should proceed with the election of a colleague. The charge was in abeyance from 1662 to 1696, and it was merged in 1727 in that of the New Church.]

GEORGE CAMPBELL, M.A.; ord. 1658 11th Oct. 1658; deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decreet of the Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662; returned in 1687, and became min. of the First Charge.

GREYFRIARS', DUMFRIES (FORMERLY NEW CHURCH).

[On the site of the mediæval castle of Dumfries, in which there was a chapel, a church known as the New Church, was built in the years 1724-7. The Presb. finding there were no funds to provide a stipend for a third minister of the town, resolved that it would be "for the Glory of God and the greater interest of the Gospel in this place and to the further usefulness as well as comfort of their brethren the Ministers of Dumfries that each of them should preach and dispense all the lawful ordinances in a separate charge." A church was built on the old site, 1866-68. The name of Greyfriars was then given it, in memory of the Franciscan convent which in old times stood a short way from the site of the church. This monastic foundation, dedicated to St Francis, was erected in 1300 by Dervorgilla, Lady of Galloway, mother of King John Baliol. Within its church in 1306, her husband, John of Baliol's nephew, John the Red Comyn, was set upon and slain by Robert the Bruce and his follower, Ivo of Kirkpatrick.

ST MARY'S (Q.S.), DUMFRIES.

[The foundation of this church was laid 24th May 1837, and it was opened for worship, 17th Nov. 1839. The parish was disjoined from St Michael's and erected in 1854. The church stands at what was of old the entrance of the town of Dumfries. There Sir Christopher Seton, whom the English had taken in arms, was executed by order of Edward I.
At the place of his death the knight's widow, the Lady Christina Bruce, sister of King Robert I., built a chapel of the Holy Rood, in memory of her husband; and to this chapel in 1324 King Robert granted an endowment. In 1715, when Dumfries was threatened with an attack by the Jacobite forces, the walls of the chapel were taken down, and their stones used in fortifying the town. The builders of St Mary's laid bare the ancient foundations.

KIRKPATRICK-DURHAM (OR DORAND), FORMERLY KILPAT- RICK-IN-THE-MUIR.

[The church, dedicated to St Patrick, belonged to the Abbey of Sweetheart.
There is reason to believe that this parish and Kirkpatrick-Irongray were originally one parish of Kilpatrick. Dorand or Durham is the original name of the hamlet at which St Patrick's Church here was built.

Patrickmass Fair was formerly held here on 17th March. St Patrick's Well is in the parish. At Kirkbride, on the Water of Urr, was a chapel of St Bride.]

JOHN WELSH, born probably in 1624, 1653 son of Josias W., min. at Templepatrick, Co. Antrim, grandson of John W. of Ayr, and great-grandson of John Knox. He graduated M.A. at Glasgow Univ. in 1647, and was admitted to this parish 21st Jan. 1653. At the instance of a heritor, David M'Breair of Newark and Almagill, M.P. for the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright, he was accused before the Privy Council, June 1662, of having called Middleton's Parliament "a drunken Parliament," but was acquitted. Soon after the restoration of Episcopacy he was deprived. He was probably the first of the field-preachers; was concerned in the Pentland Rising, and fled before Dalryell's troopers at Rullion Green. In 1667 he was hiding in a friend's house in Edinburgh, but soon afterwards he ventured into Clydesdale. He preached in Fife to large crowds drawn from all classes. In Aug. 1671 he was in Northumberland, where, says Wodrow, "he dwelt for some time very pleasantly." He preached "when Tweed was frozen in the midst of the river, that either he might shun the offence of both nations, or that two kingdoms might dispute his crime." In 1677 he dispensed the Communion at Skeochhill, in this parish, where the "Communion Stones" are still pointed out. He was present at Drumclog and Bothwell Bridge. About 1679 he went to London, where he died 9th Jan. 1681, and was buried in St Botolph Churchyard, Bishopsgate. He marr. (1) at Holyrood, 18th Feb. 1653, Elizabeth Somerville, who died at Corsock; (2) 1674, a lady whose name is unknown. BERNARD SANDERSON, M.A. (St Andrews 1625); master of the Grammar School of Leith 8th Oct. 1629, "under condition that he continue for five years, and shall not countenance or resort to any public exercise of theology in any Presb. meetings, nor present himself to any pulpit, and shall seldom resort to Edinburgh or other places." He entered on trials for license before the Presb. of Haddington, 10th Sept. 1634, and appears to have been assistant at South Leith before 13th July 1637. He was min. of Keir, 1638-59, and of this parish in 1663, to which he was admitted under the protection of an armed force. The opposition arose mostly from women of the humbler class, led by a certain Margaret Smith, who was afterwards tried for it, along with William Arnot of Little Park. Smith was ordered to be banished to the Barbados, but this sentence was not carried out. Arnot was fined 5000 merks, and required to acknowledge his offence upon two Sundays in the parish kirk. S.'s manse was plundered by the Covenanters on 15th Nov. 1666 and 4th April 1667. He died at Edinburgh, 14th Sept. 1667, aged about 58, and was buried in Greyfriars, Edinburgh. He marr. NEW ABBEY, FORMERLY LOCH-KINDELOCH, KIRKINDELOCH, OR KINDERLOCH.

[The ancient parish church, remains of which are still to be seen on an island in Loch Kinder, belonged to the Cistercian Abbey of Sweetheart. After this monastery had been suppressed, the parish church was removed from Loch Kinder to the refectory of the Abbey. This building continued to be used for worship until 1731, when a parish church was built against the south wall of the Abbey. In 1877, through the efforts of Dr Wilson, a new church was built on a site at a short distance to the south-west of the village. In the reign of Charles I. part of the adjoining parish of Kirkconnel was annexed to New Abbey. Of St Mary's Abbey of Sweetheart extensive and very fine remains survive. On 10th April 1273, Dervorgilla, Lady of Galloway, widow of John of Baliol, and mother of the ill-fated King John, founded it as a memorial of her husband, and it came to be known as the New Abbey, in contrast to the older Galloway Abbey of Dundrennan.]

[The church belonged to Lincluden College. The choir, a beautiful piece of architecture, is used as a burying-place by the Maxwells of Terregles. At the place in this parish where the water of Cluden joins the Nith, Uchtred, son of Fergus, Lord of Galloway, founded, about 1165, St Mary's Benedictine Nunnery of Lincluden. Towards the end of the fourteenth century charges of irregular living were brought against its inmates, and the convent was suppressed. On its site Archibald the Grim, Earl of Douglas, erected in the fourteenth century the new foundation of Lincluden College, likewise dedicated to St Mary. Of this, somewhat extensive ruins remain. At Lincluden also, beside the Lady Chapel Knowe, are the remains of St Mary's Chapel.]

1768. A grandson of M. was chamberlain to the Duke of Queensberry at Drunlan-rig, and sometime in 1793 Robert Burns inscribed the following lines on a window of his house:—

"Blest be M' Murdo to his latest day, No envious cloud o'ercast his evening ray,
No wrinkle furrowed by the hand of care,
Nor ever sorrow add one silver hair.
O may no son the father's honour stain, Nor ever daughter give the mother pain!"

Some of his descendants have been distinguished officers of the navy and army.

JOHN BLACKADDER [BLACK-ADEL], son of John B. of Inzievar, cadet of the family of Tulliallan; educated at Univ. of Glasgow, where his uncle, John Strang, D.D., was Principal; M.A. (1650); licen. probably by Presb. of Glasgow; ord. 7th June 1653; deprived by the Acts of Parliament 11th June, and Decree of the Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. He lived for a time at Caitloch, Ingleston, and Bardennoch, all in Glencairn, and at other places, and up to 1678 preached repeatedly at conventicles in the fields and in private houses. Numerous warrants were issued for his arrest, but he contrived to escape imprisonment. He fled to Rotterdam in 1678, but was in Edinburgh the year following. On 5th April 1681, he was seized and sent to the Bass Rock, where he was imprisoned for four years. Broken in health, he was allowed his freedom, 3rd Dec. 1685, on giving a bond of 5000 merks to confine himself to Edinburgh. Within a month he died on the Bass, and was buried in the churchyard of North Berwick. He marr. in 1640, Janet (died 9th Nov. 1688, and was buried in Greyfriars, Edinburgh, the following day), daugh. of Homer Haining, merchant, Dumfries, and had issue—William, physician to William III., born 1647, died 1704; Adam, a merchant in Sweden and Edinburgh, born 1659; Robert, student in Holland; Thomas, merchant in New England; John, lieutenant-colonel of the Cameronian Regiment, deputy-governor of Stirling Castle, born 14th Sept. 1664, died 31st Aug. 1729; Elizabeth (marr. 25th Oct. 1687, James

JAMES PURCELL [PURSEL], M.A. (Glasgow, 29th April 1718); licen. 1734 by Presb. of Middlebie 3rd Aug. 1726; assistant at Dumfries; pres. by George II. 5th Sept. 1732; ord. (by a committee of Commission of Assembly) 19th April 1734, delay having been caused by a vigorous opposition in favour of James Ritchie, sometime assistant in the parish. So bitter was the feeling engendered by P.'s settlement, that the manse offices were set on fire and the stackyard burned, on the night of 29th Sept. 1735. He died 23rd Feb. 1742, in his 43rd year, probably unmarr.—[Assembly Cases; Dumfries Tests; Acts of Ass., 1733-6; Tombst.]

JOHN EWART, born 1717, second son of Andrew E. of Mulloch, min. of Kells; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. of Kirkcudbright 29th April; called 2nd Sept. 1742; ord. 23rd June 1743; died FATHER OF THE SYNOD, 5th Sept. 1799. He was active in preparing for defence at the Rising in 1745, and put himself at the head of a company of farmers and others. The Jacobites left Dumfries unmolested, after making considerable extortions from the townsfolk. On returning home, Ewart found two Highland officers quartered in his manse. He treated them with the greatest hospitality, but vigorously reprimanded them for the unwise position they had espoused. He marr. 28th Aug. 1749, Mary (died 3rd Jan. 1811, aged 81), only daugh. of Joseph Corrie of Carlingwark, Dumfries, and had issue—Andrew, born 15th Aug. 1750, died 23rd March 1751; Jean, born 6th June 1752 (marr. 1792, Colonel Edward Hamilton), died 1800; Agnes, born 25th Sept. 1755 (marr. JOHN HEPBURN, born about 1649, son of Major James H. of Balnakeith; educated at King's College, Aberdeen; M.A. (1669); ord. (according to his own statement) by Scots mins. in London, 1678. He preached for a time in Ross-shire, and in 1680 he was called to this charge. There was no vacancy, and the call, "subscribed by the plurality of the people," merely asked him to "preach the Gospel occasionally amongst them as his convenience and safety would allow." He not only preached in Urr, but systematically intruded into other parishes, baptizing and marrying, and declaiming against his brethren in the ministry. On 5th May 1684 he was declared fugitive. He had other calls here in 1686 and 1689, but it is doubtful if he was ever formally admitted. At a meeting of Presb. 10th Sept. 1689, he was urged to settle elsewhere, but within a week he refused a unanimous call to Kirkpatrick-Irongray. He continued to carry on his irregularities, and was suspended by the Assembly 4th Jan. 1696. He declined the Oath of Allegiance, and was imprisoned by order of the Privy Council in the castles of Edinburgh and Stirling. On 3rd Feb. 1699 he was allowed to return to his parish, but was again suspended 8th June 1704, and finally he was deposed 9th April 1705. "He had not given nor taken communion for sixteen years; he had treated his former suspension and warnings and tender dealings as if they had not been; he had been guilty of a continued tract of erroneous seditions, and divisive doctrines, and schismatic courses, wherein he is obstinate, refusing to be reclaimed." On 12th Aug. 1707 he was restored to his ministry at the earnest petition of the parishioners. He vehemently opposed the Union, and was deep in the counsels of those discontented Cameronians who purposed joining the Duke of Atholl's Highland host and overthrowing the Union by force. In 1715 he was a suspected character, but he put himself at the head of 320 men of Urr, and marched to defend Dumfries against Kenmure. The flag they carried is still in Urr Manse, bearing the legend "For the Lord of Hosts." He died 20th March 1723, and was almost certainly buried at Urr, but there is no record of his interment. He marr. 20th April 1701, Emilia (died 11th Sept. 1740), daugh. of Alexander Nisbet of Craigentiny, and had issue—John, min. of Old Greyfriars, Edinburgh (grandfather of Andrew, sixth Earl of Hyndford); Jean (marr. 1726, James M'George of Cocklick). JAMES MUIRHEAD of Logan, parish of Buittle, born 1742, eldest son of 1770 William M. of Logan and Anna Lindsay of Crochmore; educated at the Grammar School of Dumfries and Univ. of Edinburgh. He at first studied law, but having decided to enter the ministry, was licen. by Presb. of Kirkeubright 3rd July 1765; pres. to this parish by George III. 14th Feb. 1769; ord. 28th June 1770; D.D. (Edinburgh, 21th Feb. 1796); died 16th May 1808. He had considerable gifts as a mathematician, and was keenly interested in natural history and antiquities. He is the reputed author of the song, Bess, the Gawkie. During a parliamentary election he was lampooned in two of the Heron ballads by Robert Burns, who sarcastically called him "Muirhead, wha's as guid as he's true," and in reference to the minister's taste for heraldry and genealogy—

"Here's armorial bearings Frae the Mane of Orr—
The crest, an auld crab apple Rotten at the core."

Dr Muirhead replied in a stinging epigram—a parody on Martial's In Vaccaram [Liber ix., EP., 67]—which cut Burns to the quick, and wrung from him an angry retort. Dr M. marr. 21st Aug. 1777, Jean Loudon (died 22nd Dec. 1825), of the Clonyard family, Colvend, and had issue—William Porter, advocate, who assumed the name of Herries on succeeding to the estate of Spottes in the parish, born 1778, died 15th March 1823; Charles Herries of Logan, W.S., born 1781, died 6th March 1823; Jane (marr. 10th June 1816, Captain Robert Skirving of Croys), died 15th Jan. 1847; and John of Logan. ALEXANDER MURRAY, born at Dun-1806 kitterick, on the Palmure burn in Mongaff, 22nd Oct. 1775, son of Robert M., a shepherd, by his second wife, Mary Cochrane. At nine years of age he was employed as a herd-boy, but being near-sighted had to abandon that occupation. At twelve years, he taught the children of the neighbouring farms, remaining six weeks at a time at each house, and earning about twenty shillings a year. When he entered the Univ. of Edinburgh at the age of eighteen, he had been in all only fifty-seven weeks at school. By his own unaided study, from books bought or borrowed, he had acquired a knowledge of French, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, German, and had a less intimate acquaintance with Arabic and Ethiopic. He had read the whole of the Hebrew Bible, and had translated a German professor's lectures on Roman authors. An examination by Principal Baird and others gained him free admission to the Arts curriculum, and with the aid of a bursary from the Town Council of Edinburgh and private tutorships (chiefly in Persian and Hindustani) he was able to carry out his ambition of entering the ministry. He was licen. by the Presb. of Edinburgh 14th April 1802. In succession to John Leyden he became editor of The Scots Magazine, and contributed to the Edinburgh Review, then founded. From 1803 to 1805 he was engaged in the preparation of an exhaustive edition of the Travels of James Bruce, and resided at Kinnaird House, Stirlingshire, where Bruce's papers were preserved. Returning to Edinburgh, he was pres. to this parish, and ord. (assistant and successor) 11th Dec. 1806. He was appointed Professor of Oriental Languages in the Univ. of Edinburgh 8th July, and received the degree of D.D. from the same Univ. 17th July 1812. He retained his position as min. of Urr. He died of consumption at Edinburgh, 15th April 1813, and was interred in Greyfriars churchyard where a monument was erected in 1877 "by admirers chiefly connected with Galloway, to commemorate the genius and fame of the Shepherd Boy who rose to be the most eminent Linguist and Oriental Scholar of his day.⁷ A granite obelisk was set up 1834-5, on the summit of Duncraig, overlooking his birthplace. His portrait by Andrew Geddes is in the National Gallery, Edinburgh. He marr. 9th Dec. 1808, Henrietta Copland, daugh. of James Affleck, farmer, Grange, of Urr. She had a government pension of £80 in consideration of her husband's services to Oriental scholarship, and died 27th April 1824, leaving issue—Agnes Loudon, born 22nd Sept. 1809, died in or about 1821; James Affleck, surgeon of the Elizabeth, a merchant vessel trading with China and America, who was drowned on his first voyage. It is related that when he was appointed assistant and successor at Kells, some of the parishioners felt aggrieved at not being sufficiently consulted, and that they began to attend a neighbouring church, which could be reached only by crossing a river in a boat. When Mr Y. heard of this, he told the boatman to make no charge, and to send him the account, which he would pay. It is said that the people were so pleased at this that they resumed attendance at the parish church, and when he left the parish much regret was felt. DALGARNO, OR DALGARNOCH.

[The church belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood. It was dedicated to St Michael, and near its churchyard is St Michael's Well. Dalgarnoch was united to Closeburn by the General Assembly in 1606, and the union was confirmed by Parliament. The church has disappeared, but the font is extant. Here was held the fair or "tryste o' Dalgarnoch," sung by Burns.]

DURISDEER.

[The rectory of Durisdeer formed a prebend held by the subchanter of Glasgow Cathedral. The church was probably dedicated to St Cuthbert, and there is a well which still bears his name. There was a chapel in this parish on the Water of Carron. The spot is still called Chapel. Part of the ancient parish of Kilbride was annexed to Durisdeer in 1727.]

INCH AND SAULSEAT.

[Inch. The church of this parish stands on the shore of Loch Inch, near the island from which both loch and church are named. Until the Reformation this church belonged to the Bishop of Galloway. In the parish of Inch were two chapels: St John's, beside which the town of Stranraer grew up; and St Patrick's, which gave rise to Portpatrick. Balnab (Baile an Aib—the Abbot's place), in the parish of Inch, was a possession of the abbots of Glen Luce.

Saulseat.—The church of Saulseat belonged to the Abbey of Saulseat, within the parish. Of this monastery, the earliest Premonstratensian foundation in Scotland, the remains are now but scanty. It was built in 1148 by Fergus, Lord of Galloway, and was dedicated to St John the Evangelist. Near its ruins is St John's Croft.]

KIRKMAIDEN-IN-RHINNS.

[The church of this parish belonged to the Abbey of Saulseat. It was dedicated to St Medan, whose name is borne also by three holy wells within tide-mark on the seashore. Further along the coast in the parish, near Portankil, is St Medan's Cave, with an ancient building attached to it, the two forming the chapel and retreat of a mediæval Anchorite. In this parish are Wells of St Ninian and St Katherine, near the sites of chapels of these saints. In addition to the place of worship at St Medan's Cave, there were in the parish of Kirkmaiden at least eight other chapels, namely: Kilstay, which appears to have been dedicated to St Skiach, St Donan's at Kildonan, St Bride's at Kirkbride, St Lashrean's at Kirkleish, St Katherine's at St Katherine's Croft, St Ninian's at Chipperingan (Tobar Ninian = St Ninian's Well), St Medan's at Kirk Dryne, and St Drostan's at Chapel Rossan. Near Chapel Rossan is Knoektaggart (Cnoc an t-sagairt = the Priest's Hill).]

10th Feb., and adm. 26th May 1647;
trans. to Ballantrae about 1658.

ALEXANDER PEDEN [PEATHINE, 1659 PETHEIN], born Auchencloich, parish of Sorn, about 1626, son of a small proprietor. He was probably the Alexander Peden who was retoured heir of his grandfather in Hillhead of Sorn, 16th March 1648, and on the same day heir of Auchinlonfuir. Of his early training there is no clear record, but he no doubt attended the parish school of Mauchline, and was a student at Glasgow Univ. from 1643 to 1648. For a time he acted as schoolmaster, precentor, and session-clerk at Tarbolton, and, according to Wodrow, was employed in a similar capacity at Fenwick. As he was about to receive license from the Presb. of Ayr, an accusation of immorality was raised against him, but was found to be false. In 1659 he was ord.
to this charge, and was deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decree of Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. When he preached his farewell sermon he is said to have occupied the pulpit till nightfall, and on leaving it, to have knocked three times on the door with his Bible, saying, "I arrest thee in my Master's name, that none enter thee but such as come by the door, as I have done." Following his ejection Peden became perhaps the most celebrated field preacher of his time. He wandered all over the South of Scotland, obtaining by his figurative and oracular style of address and his supposed prophetic gifts an extraordinary influence over the people, which was further increased by his hardships, perils, and numerous hairbreadth escapes.

On 25th Jan. 1666 he was denounced a rebel, and was excepted from the pardon after the Pentland Rising. He fled to Ireland in 1670, but having returned in 1673, was apprehended at Knockdow, in Ballantrae Parish, and sent to the Bass Rock. He was confined there from 26th June 1673 to 9th Oct. 1677, when he was removed to the Edinburgh Tolbooth, where he remained till Dec. 1678. A petition for liberation was refused, and he was sentenced instead to perpetual banishment. The captain of the ship which was chartered to convey Peden and his companions to the Virginia plantations, discovering them to be persons banished for their religious opinions, and not convicts, declined to take them aboard, and they were set at liberty. From London, Peden found his way back to Scotland, and again to Ireland. He returned to Ayrshire in 1685, and preached his last sermon at Collinswood, on the Water of Ayr. His privations and anxieties had gradually undermined his health, and, resolving to spend his last days in his native district, he found shelter in a cave on the banks of the Ayr, near Sorn. Having a presentiment that he had not many hours to live, he left the cave one evening, and went to his brother's house at Sorn, where he died, 28th Jan. 1686. He was buried in the Boswell aisle of Auchinleck Church. Forty days after, a troop of dragoons lifted his corpse, carried it two miles to Cumnock gallows, and were about to hang it up in chains. Finding this impossible, they buried it at the gallows foot. After the Revolution the inhabitants of the parish of Cumnock, in token of their esteem for Peden, abandoned their ancient burial-place, and formed a new one round the gallows hill. He was the most eminent and revered of all the Scottish covenanting preachers, and his influence upon the mass of the people was so great that they gave him the name of "The Prophet," and were accustomed to regard him as almost possessed of the prophetic afflatus. GLENLUCE, OR OLD LUCE.

[Before the Reformation the church of Glenluce belonged to the Abbey of Glenluce within the parish. This Cistercian monastery, dedicated to St Mary, was founded in 1190 by Roland of Galloway, Constable of Scotland. Its Chapterhouse is still in good preservation, and the ruins of the monastic buildings cover an acre of land. In the parish of Glenluce there were four chapels: Kirk Christ, St Mary's, St Fillan's at Kilfillan, and St John's at the Knock of Luce.]

PORTPATRICK, SOMETIME CALLED PORT MONTGOMERIE.

[Before the Reformation there was here a place of worship dedicated to the Apostle of Ireland, and called Chapel Patrick. To it was joined a district known as the Black Quarter of Inch. In 1628 Chapel Patrick was rebuilt, and in the same year the Black Quarter was disjoined from Inch and erected as the parish of Port Montgomerie. This name it took from Hew Montgomerie, Viscount Montgomerie of the Great Ardes in Ireland, upon whose lands of Portree the church had been placed. Popular feeling, however, clung to the old name of the local patron saint, and, after two or three years, the new parish was named Portpatrick. In 1842 the heritors built another parish church on a new site. The ruins of the church of 1628 still remain. At Kilantringan in the Black Quarter of Inch there was a Chapel of St Ninian.]

STONEKIRK (FORMERLY STEENIEKIRK), CLAYSHANT, AND TOSKERTOUN.

Stonekirk. The church of this parish was dedicated to St Stephen, from whom it took its name. In the parish were the two hospitals of Meikle and Little Spital, which have given rise to the modern names of Port Spital and Spital Mill. There were also within the bounds three chapels: St Brioch's at Kirkmabreck, St Donan's at Kildonan, and St Lashrean's at Killaser.

Clayshant.—The old name of this parish was Clachshant (Clach Séant=the Holy Stone). The church belonged to the Priory of Whitern.

Toskertoun.—The church of Toskertoun, now generally called Kirkmadryne, belonged to the Priory of Whitern. At the churchyard are preserved eight monumental stones, two of them deemed to be the earliest Christian grave memorials existing in Scotland. The church was dedicated to St Medran of Muskerry.]

JAMES LAW, reader at Clayshant, 1571 1571.

JOHN GIBSON, exhorter at Stoney-1576 kirk, 1567; min. at Clayshant in 1574, having charge also of Stoneykirk, Toskertoun, and Kirkmaiden. He became min. of Stoneykirk, removed thither about 1576, and was still in the charge in 1593.—[Reg. Assig.]

MICHAEL HATHORN, formerly a 1576 priest of the Roman Church, and vicar of Borgue; conformed and was reader at Toskertoun in 1567; in 1576 Kirkmaiden, Leswalt, and Kirkcolm were in his charge.—[Edin. Com. Dec., 3rd March 1589-90; Reg. Min.; Reg. Assig.]

JOHN MOFFAT [MOFFET], reader at STRANRAER.

[Before the Reformation there was at Stranraer a Chapel of St John. On 19th March 1600, the General Assembly sanctioned the founding of a parish for the district. Its disjunction from Inch and Leswalt took some years to carry through.
 On the erection of the Presbytery of Stranraer in 1622, this new parish became the seat of that Court. In 1766 the heritors of Stranraer built a new parish church, which is now in ruins. A later church on a different site was erected towards the end of the nineteenth century.]

ROBERT AIRD, M.A.; ord. by Thomas, 1633 Bishop of Galloway, and the Presb.
9th Oct. 1633; dem. "as he could not withdraw his affection for Episcopacy," 27th June 1638; min. of Cumbrae in 1642.

JOHN LIVINGSTON, M.A.; adm. (at 1638 Stoneykirk) 5th July 1638; trans. to Ancrum 1st Aug. 1648.

JOHN PARK, M.A.; ord. to Mochrum 1649 in 1646; trans. and adm. 7th Nov.
1649. In his capacity as Moderator of Synod, he protested against the dissolution of that Court by James, Earl of Galloway, in April 1661, as ultra vires; deprived by the Acts of Parliament 11th June, and of Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662.
He continued to discharge his duties, and was complained against 24th Feb. 1663.
A question respecting an agreement made with the Univ. of Glasgow as to his stipend was brought before the Court of Session, which upheld his claim, 10th Dec. 1665.
He ministered here under indulgence, 27th July 1669, but in 1670 the Court of Session found that Thomas Naismith was rightful minister, though "the town and parish adhered as one man" to Park. He went to Kilmaurs in 1672.—[Livingston's Life;

WALTER LAURIE of Redcastle, son of 1695 James L., min. of Stoneykirk; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; ord.
before 15th April 1695; died 4th May 1742.
He bequeathed a house and garden, a seat in the church, a tomb, and about forty acres of land in the parish of Leswalt, "to be enjoyed by and to encourage my successors in office in all time coming on condition of keeping the tomb in repair." He marr. 9th Nov. 1697, Margaret, eldest daugh. of Robert Gordon of Shirmers.—

GEORGE BLAIR, M.A. (Glasgow, 17th 1748 April 1725); licen. by Presb. of Ayr 19th April 1732; called 20th Jan., and ord. 18th Aug. 1743; died 23rd Aug.
1771, in his 71st year. He marr. 16th June 1761, Jean (died 19th May 1816), daugh. of James M'Ferrand, min. of Kirkmaiden, and had issue—Elizabeth, born 30th May 1762; Catherine, born 31st Jan. 1764.

JOHN COULTER, born 1730, eldest 1772 son of John C., Crawfordjohn; licen.
 by Presb. of Stranraer 25th March 1761; assistant at Kilwinning; ord. to Kirkmaiden 27th Sept. 1764; pres. by George III. 20th Sept. 1771; trans. and adm. 4th Feb. 1772; D.D. (Glasgow, Nov.
 1798); died 16th Feb. 1814. He marr. (1) 1st May 1775, Helen, daugh. of David Fergusson of Finnard; (2) 3rd Feb. 1779, Margaret, daugh. of David Liggart of Bar-lockhart, and had issue—John, born 21st Feb. 1780, died young; David, merchant, Glasgow, born 27th Oct. 1782; William, born 29th July 1784, died young. Publication—Account of the Parish (Sinclair's

DAVID WILSON, born Glasgow, son of 1807 John W.; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; licen. by Presb. of Stranraer 5th Oct. 1803; pres. by George III. 23rd
 Dec. 1806; ord. (assistant and successor) 20th May 1807. On the passing of Act 50 George III. cap. 84, he claimed an allowance of £20 in lieu of a glebe. This was objected to on the ground that he got at least the equivalent of a glebe from Walter Laurie's bequest. He raised an action in the Court of Session in 1821, but his claim was refused. He was libelled in 1842 on various serious charges. Having applied to the Court of Session for interdict on the ground of irregularities of procedure on the part of the Presbytery, the latter referred the matter to the General Assembly, who deposed him on account of the legal action he had taken, 30th May 1842. On his petition, the following Assembly found that this sentence was "illegal, unconstitutional, and inept, and declare the same to have been null and void ab initio," 29th May 1843. He died 17th Oct. 1845. He marr. 29th Oct. 1831, Margaret (died 26th Feb. 1845, s.p.), eldest daugh. of Patrick Stewart of Cairnmore.

PRESBYTERY OF WIGTOWN

[The General Assembly sanctioned the erection of this Court in April 1581. We find the Presbytery in existence in 1593. Its Register, which begins with 22nd Oct. 1696, extends to six volumes. There is, however, a gap from 11th Oct. 1758 to 22nd June 1784. There was an earlier volume of Records, beginning 13th Nov. 1663, but it is not now known to exist.]

BARGRENNAN (Q.S.).

[A chapel-of-ease was opened at Bargrennan, 17th March 1839, and was served by licentiates. The parish was disjoined from Monigaff, Penninghame, and Colmonell, 16th July 1862.]

KIRKMABRECK AND KIRKDALE.

[Kirkmabreck.—The church was dedicated to St Brioch. It belonged to the Abbey of Dundrennan. On 20th June 1618 the Commissioners of Teinds united the three parishes of Anwoth, Kirkmabreck, and Kirkdale. In 1636 Kirkmabreck and Kirkdale were severed from Anwoth, and made to form a united charge by themselves. On 8th March 1637 the church of this united parish was removed by Act of Parliament from Kirkmabreck to Ferrietoun of Cree, now called Creetown. The united parish of Kirkmabreck and Kirkdale remained under the jurisdiction of the Presbytery of Kirkcudbright until 24th Jan. 1699, when the General Assembly transferred it to the Presbytery of Wigtown.

In 1834 the church at Creetown was rebuilt. The ruins of the old parish church are still standing in the churchyard at Kirkmabreck. Close by is Knocktagart (Cnoc an t-sagairt=the Priest's Hill). In old times there was a hospital in the parish at Spitalburn. There were also two chapels within the bounds, St Bride's at Kilbride and the Angel Chapel at Barnsoul, believed to have been dedicated to St Michael. Near it is the Angel Well.

Kirkdale.—The church of Kirkdale was dedicated to St Michael. It belonged to the Priory of Whitern. On 20th June 1618 Kirkdale and Kirkmabreck were united by the Commissioners of Teinds to the adjoining parish of Anwoth. But in 1636 Kirkmabreck and the greater part of Kirkdale were disjoined from Anwoth, leaving, however, a portion of Kirkdale still annexed to Anwoth.]

ing inscription:—

"He like a watchman at his post,
With careful diligence and cost Of restless pains his station kept,
And oft did wake, while others slept,
The wandering sheep from harm to keep;
And preach'd and pray'd the flock to meet In Canaan's pastures, where he feeds And lives on joys which finite thought exceeds."

WHITERN, OR WHITHORN.

[The church of Whiterm was dedicated to St Martin. It belonged to the Priory of Whiterm within the parish. This Premonstratensian monastery, known as Candida Casa, and dedicated to St Martin, was founded in 1153 by Fergus, Lord of Galloway upon the site of St Ninian's earlier abbey. To the shrine of St Ninian in the priory church, pilgrims constantly came in great numbers. Among these we find Margaret of Denmark, Queen of James III. Their son, James IV., also came frequently. In 1507 his queen, Margaret Tudor, accompanied him to the shrine. James V., too, made this pilgrimage. According to use and wont in such high places of devout resort, the pilgrims passed from one oratory to another, and after worshipping left an offering at each. The following six places were thus visited at Whiterm: the Altar of the Holy Rood, the fertour or shrine in the nave of the church where the saint's bones were kept, the relics, the high altar, the Lady Chapel, and a chapel on the hill about a mile out of the town on the north side, at the place still called Chapel Outon. A much-prized relic shown to James IV. in 1506 was an ancient bell, called by the Galloway people Clag Ringearin (St Ninian's Bell). The priory church served as cathedral for the See of Galloway, and its canons formed the Chapter of the Diocese. After the Reformation the nave of the priory church was made the parish church. As such it was in use until 1822, when a parish church was built close by. A considerable part of the monastery can be traced in the surviving ruins, but the church only is in anything like fair preservation. Near this site is a piece of ground called the Prior's Croft, and a little further off, at Chipperheron (Tobar Chiarain=St Kieran's Well), there was a well sacred to St Kieran. At Whiterm, in the museum beside the ruined priory, there is preserved a large upright stone on which is incised a cross of early form, and a Latin inscription telling of a dedication to St Peter. This stone was brought from a place on the outskirts of the town, not far from the priory. It seems to have been a girth stone set up to mark one of the limits of the monastic right of sanctuary.

Besides Chapel Outon there was in the parish a chapel dedicated to St Martin. Its ruins, still fairly complete, stand on the seashore at the Isle of Whiterm, marking the place where St Ninian first landed, about 397. Some way inland, on the road to Whiterm, is Prestrie (the Priest's Dwelling), with the Clearie Park (Pàirc a Chléirich=the Priest's Field). At no great distance is Balnab (Baile an Aib=the Abbot's Place), a relic of the early Celtic monastery which came to an end in the eighth century. The priory had, of course, no abbot.]

JOHN BARRON, born Edinburgh, 1537, son of Andrew B. and nephew of 1567 James B., a friend of John Knox; entered as a student at Geneva, 14th Oct. 1557, and became a freeman of that city 21st June 1558. In 1560 he returned to Scotland, and was min. of Galston in 1563; trans. to this parish 2nd Feb. 1567; died in 1568. He marr. Anne Goodacker [Good-acre], and had issue—John; Susanna; Marion (marr. Jehu, son of Robert Johnson of Newton). He complained to the Assembly, 29th Dec. 1563, that his wife had deserted him and gone to York. WIGTOWN.

[The church of Wigtown was dedicated to St Machuit. It belonged to the Priory of Whitern. Beside the ruins of the old church there stands in the churchyard a new parish church, built about 1850. In the churchyard are two monumental stones of some note, marking the graves of persons put to death in 1685 by orders of the Royal Commission for the suppression of Nonconformity. The one records the names of three men hanged without trial; and on the other are commemorated two women, one of them but eighteen years of age, drowned at stakes within tidemark on the sands at the mouth of the Water of Bladnoch, close by the church. Near the church stood of old a priory of the Black Friars, founded in 1264 by the Lady Dervorgilla of Galloway, mother of King John Balliol. Of it nothing is now left.]

PATRICK VAUS [VANS or WAUS], 1560 second son of Sir John V. of Barnbarroch by his wife Janet, only child of Sir Simon [Samuel] McCulloch of Myrton, is mentioned as rector of this parish in 1545. In 1559 he is styled "parson of Wigtown." He apparently joined the Reformers, and continued here as first Protestant min. in 1560. He succeeded his father (who was killed at Pinkie) in the family property, and on 11th Jan. 1574 he was appointed a Senator of the College of Justice, with the title of Lord Barnbarroch. On 21st Jan. 1587 he was admitted a member of the Privy Council, when he was probably also knighted. In May of that year he was sent as joint-ambassador to the Court of Denmark to arrange a marriage between James VI. and the Princess Anne, and two years later he accompanied the King to Upslo, in Norway, where he witnessed the marriage. In 1592 and 1593 he was a Lord of the Articles, and had voted him an annual pension of £200. About this time he was member of a Commission for the due provision of the ministry and augmentation of stipends. He died 22nd Dec.

1597. He was one of the most influential ecclesiastics and landed proprietors of his time, and is thought to have been the hero of the ballad Sir Patrick Spens. He marr. (1) Elizabeth, daugh. of Sir Hew Kennedy of Girvanmains, who died without issue; (2) Catherine Kennedy, daugh. of Gilbert, third Earl of Cassillis, and had issue—John of Longcastle, gentleman of the chamber to James VI., died 1642; Patrick of Lybrack; Robert of Campford; Alexander; Isabel (marr. PRESBYTERY OF KIRKCUDBRIGHT

[A proposal to constitute a Presbytery for the central part of Galloway was before the General Assembly in 1581. In 1601 we find this locality still under the control of the Presbytery of Nithsdale, now called that of Dumfries. It was, however, then the avowed purpose of the supreme court to set up a separate jurisdiction for the Kirkcudbright district, so soon as the parishes there should be sufficiently organised to warrant such a course. The actual erection of the new Presbytery evidently occurred shortly after this. The Presbytery Register begins 30th April 1700, and extends to eleven volumes. There are gaps from 1st Aug. 1733 to 2nd Jan. 1734; from 8th Jan. 1755 to 17th Aug. 1768; from 14th Oct. 1782 to 12th May 1784; from 7th Oct. 1789 to 1st Oct. 1794; and from 15th Aug. 1812 to 11th March 1816. There were two earlier volumes of records. Neither of these is now known to exist. One of them dealt with the period from 1647 to 1658. Regarding it we have an account in a Presbytery minute of 21st Dec. 1780. The other volume, beginning 10th June 1663, is mentioned in the Synod Register of that time.]

ANWOTH, OR AVONWAITH.

[At the time of the Reformation the church of this parish was in the possession of the Priory of St Mary's Isle. At an earlier time it had belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood. There were in the parish two chapels: St Bride's, at Kirkbride, near the Skyre Burn; and another at Culeness. The parish church was rebuilt in 1626. That building is now roofless, but otherwise in very good condition. A new church close to it was erected in 1828.]

JOHN M'MILLAN, M.A. (Edinburgh, 1693 14th May 1686); ord. in 1693; died 26th July 1700, aged 37. "He came to the parish a sick man, and was always in a dying-like condition." He marr. Catherine Williamson, who died 31st Aug. 1700, and had issue—James, bursar of the Presb., a divinity student in 1717; and others.—[Tombst.]

JOHN MACMILLAN [or M'MILLAN] 1701 was born in 1669 at Barneuchlaw, a hill farm in the parish of Monigaff. His father, also John, is said to have fallen at Bothwell Bridge, and his mother, whose name is unknown, married again. Macmillan was probably brought up at Earlston, in Dalry, where he attended the parish school, and met many of those who had suffered for their religious convictions. He studied at the Univ. of Edinburgh, and graduated M.A. 28th June 1697; was sometime chaplain to John Murray of Broughton [now Cally, parish of Girthon]; licen. by Presb. of Kirkcudbright 26th Nov. 1700. On 29th May he was called to this charge, and ord. on Thursday, 18th Sept. 1701. The training of his youth gave him a strong leaning to the side of the Cameronians, whose distinctive tenets were that no sworn allegiance was due to the king or government, on the ground that they had rescinded the Covenants and the Acts of the Reformation period. Soon after his settlement he began to air certain grievances in the Presb., and to make protests against the form of church government, especially the Oath of Allegiance to Queen Anne, who was suspect on the subject of Presbyterianism. Macmillan's relations with his brethren became so strained that he was finally deposed, 30th Dec. 1703. He continued to exercise his ministerial functions, and retained possession of the church and manse, an action in which he was supported by the majority of his parishioners. On 9th June, and again 11th July 1704, he presented a petition to the Commission of Assembly, "acknowledging his fault in contravening the sentence of deposition, and earnestly desiring that he might be reponed," but this was refused. On 9th Oct. 1706 he was called to minister to the Societies, or "the Suffering Remnant of the true Presbyterian Church of Christ in Scotland," as the members called themselves, and on 2nd Dec. he entered on his new sphere of service by preaching at Crawfordjohn. He now wandered far and near over almost the half of Scotland in the discharge of this wider ministry, spending also, as often as he could, his Sundays amongst his own faithful flock at Balmaghie. The Presb. did its best to expel him, but even the presence of the Sheriff and a large force of the military were powerless against the followers of Macmillan. The ordination of William M'Kie, his successor, was effected (at Kirkcudbright) seven years after Macmillan's deposition. In 1714, however, a working agreement is said to have been made, under which M'Kie had the use of the church in Macmillan's absence. Macmillan voluntarily left the parish for good in 1727. At a meeting held at Braehead of Carnwath on 1st Aug. 1743, he and Thomas Nairn, min. of Abbotshall, Fife, founded the Reformed Presbyterian Church. He died at Broomhill, Bothwell, 1st Dec. 1753, and was buried at Dalsersf, where an imposing monument was erected in 1839. In 1895 a memorial brass was placed in Balmaghie Church by his great-grandson, John Grieve, M.D., Glasgow. Macmillan marr. (1) 1708, Jean Gemble [Gemell], probably belonging to Carsphairn, who died s.p. 12th June 1711: (2) 1719, Mary (died in childbed, 5th May 1723, aged 43), daugh. of Sir Alexander Gordon, Bart., of Earlston, and widow of Edward Goldie of Craigmuaie [she left four children by her first marriage]: (3) about 1725, Grace Russell [according to another account, Janet Jackson], who survived him, and had issue — Josias, born 12th June 1726, died 1740; Katherine, born 19th Dec. 1727, died 1738; John, min. of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, Sandhills, Glasgow, born 1729, died 11th Feb. 1808; Grizel, born 1731 (marr. (1) Andrew Galloway, Sandhills; (2) John Thorburn, min. of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, Pentland), died 1767; Ann, born 1732 (marr. 31st Jan. 1751, John, son of James M'Crone, writer, Dalmellington); Alexander Jonita, born 28th May 1734, died that year. WILLIAM M'KIE, said to have been born in the parish in 1678, became 1710 chaplain to his relative, John M'Ghie of Balmaghie, and was licen. by Presb. of Kirkcudbright 22nd Feb. 1709. On 1st Dec. following, he was called to this charge, the meeting being held at Clachanpluck [now Laurieston], and on 12th Oct. 1710, he was ord. at Kirkcudbright, "because the Presb. cannot go with safety to the parish of Balmaghie." As Macmillan still occupied the manse and refused access to the church, M'Kie rented a house about three miles off, and preached in a barn, or meeting-house, ironically called "The House of Rinmon." He was frequently assaulted by Macmillan's supporters, and once when attending a funeral, by Macmillan himself. It is stated that on one occasion, 9th Dec. 1713, when M'Kie's friends attempted to plough the glebe for him, the followers of his predecessor turned out in force, cut the reins in pieces, turned the horses adrift, and threw the ploughshares into the Dee. One woman aimed a blow at the minister's throat with a reaping-hook and cut his fingers to the bone when his hand was raised in self-defence. A letter was forwarded to the Lord Justice-Clerk and the Solicitor-General stating the facts. No criminal prosecution followed, but Macmillan retired from the parish. M'Kie by prudent conduct and faithfulness in the discharge of his duty overcame all opposition, and lived useful and respected till his death 10th Feb. 1763. He marr. 22nd Nov. 1714, Mary, daugh. of Nathaniel Gordon of Carleton, and had issue—Nathaniel, min. of Crossmichael; William, min. of Balmaclellan; Alexander, born 17th Dec. 1720; Agnes, born 6th Jan. 1723 (marr. Alexander M'Ghie, second of Airds); Mary, born 5th Nov. 1725 (marr. Alexander Gordon of Carleton); George, captain, born 5th April 1729, died 1790; David, born 22nd June 1731; Anna, born 2nd Aug. 1732; Mary (twin), born 2nd Aug. 1732, died 13th June 1742.—[Wodrow's Anal. and Corresp.; Dumfries Sas., 10th May 1704; Mackenzie's Hist. of Galloway, ii., 312; Reid's The Kirk above Dee Water; Reid's A Cameronian Apostle, 164, passim.]

BORGUE, KIRKANDREWS, AND SENNICK, OR SANDWICK.

[These three parishes were united in 1670. Borgue.—The church of Borgue was granted to Dryburgh Abbey about 1150.

Kirkandrews.—The church of this parish was dedicated to St Andrew. In early times it was owned by the Priory of Iona, but afterwards passed into possession of the Abbey of Holyrood. For a considerable time before the Reformation it belonged to the Priory of Whitem. In the churchyard the ruins of the church are still standing.

Sennick.—The church of Sennick belonged to the Abbey of Tongland. Its ruins still stand in the churchyard.]

BUTTLE AND KIRKENNAN.

Buttle.—The church of Buttle was dedicated to St Colman of Lan Eala. The present church was built in 1819. The ruins of the church previously used are in the churchyard. They consist of a nave and chancel. An unusual feature is the greater width of the chancel compared with that of the nave. The probable date of the chancel is the second half of the thirteenth century. They have lately been put in excellent repair. There is a modern chapel in the parish at Palnackie.

Kirkennan.—The church of Kirkennan was dedicated to St Inan. It belonged to the Abbey of Sweetheart.]

JAMES PARKER, exhorter, 1567 to 1567 1574.

HUGH HENDERSON [HENRYSON], 1638 min. in 1638; trans. to Dalry in 1639.

JOHN SEMPLE, was sometime pre-1646 centor in a church in Co. Down.
He is said to have been called to the ministry under the following circumstances. It was then the custom to begin divine service with praise, and this continued until the minister had entered the pulpit. On one occasion when a preacher was late in arriving, S. "had an impulse" to expound the psalm which had been sung, and did it very well. He was shortly afterwards permitted to go on exhorting in private houses, and had many people to hear him in different parts of the country. He became min. of this parish in 1646, and joined the Protesters in 1651.
On 23rd Aug. 1660 he was imprisoned in Edinburgh Castle by order of the Committee of Estates, who also sequestered his stipend, 25th Sept. following. He was included in the list of rebels whom the lieges were prohibited from receiving, 4th

Dec. 1666, and in a list of those who were to be prosecuted, 15th Aug. 1667, as well as in the list of those to whom pardon and indemnity were granted, 1st Oct. following.
At the request of Alexander, Viscount Kenmore, he was granted indulgence here, 3rd Sept. 1672; was fined, 10th July 1673, for not observing the anniversary of the Restoration. When cited before the Privy Council, 4th Aug. 1677, and threatened with death or banishment, he replied, "He is above that guides the gully [knife]; my God will not let you either kill me or banish me, but I will go home and die in peace." He returned, preached in the parish, and died soon afterwards, aged 75.
He left a considerable sum of money to the poor of Kirkecudbright.—[Wodrow's Hist.,

[WILLIAM ERSKINE, M.A.; min. of 1672 Girthon, who had been deprived in 1662; was granted indulgence here by the Privy Council 3rd Sept. 1672. It is doubtful whether he accepted the charge.
Letters of intercommuning were passed against him 6th Aug. 1675, and after an imprisonment of three years at Stirling Castle, he was set at liberty, Aug. 1679.
He was again imprisoned in Stirling, and ordered to be removed to Blackness in 1682. After being confined there and in other places for seven years, he petitioned the Privy Council, 8th April 1684, "for their compassion, and was allowed to walk about the castle, and take the air with a keeper." He became min. of the Tron Parish, Edinburgh, 1687.—[Wodrow's Hist., ii. 286, iii. 406, iv. 38.]

JOHN GILCHRIST, was adm. to this

He is said to have died in the pulpit after giving out as his text the words, "Strive to enter in at the strait gate." The following acrostic epitaph appears on his tombstone:—

"Aronnd Crossmichael gloomy clouds are spread, Nor can soft music make the parish glad.
Dear to them was their Pastor, and his death Religiously they mourn, and bravely breathe Esteem and love to him who showed the way Which leads to regions of eternal day.
Devotion glow'd within the good man's breast
In everything he piety expressed.
Crowned with immortal bliss he reigns above Kings of the earth, and swims in seas of love."

JOHN CANT, adm. after 21st Oct. 1659 1659; deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decreet of the Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. He was accused before the Privy Council, 24th Feb. 1663, "of still labouring to keep the hearts of the people from the present government in Church and State." On his comparing, 24th March following, his case was delayed. He was allowed to continue in his parish as an indulged min. On 10th July 1673 he was fined for not observing the anniversary of the Restoration. He confessed having "contravened and broken several of the instructions" given to indulged mins., and was indicted to appear before the Court of Justiciary, 22nd Dec. 1694, on a charge of resetting rebels. This charge was deserted, but he was obliged to give a bond that he would "live peaceably, and not preach." He was restored by the Act recalling Presbyterian mins., but dem. 14th May 1689. On 20th Oct. 1703 it was agreed that each member of the Synod should give him thirty shillings, on account of his indigent circumstances. He died between 17th Oct. 1705 and 29th May 1706.—[Wodrow's Hist., ii., 221.]

KIRKCUDBRIGHT, GALTWAY, AND DUNROD.

Kirkcudbright.—The church of Kirkcudbright was dedicated to St Cuthbert. It belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood. There were two chapels in the parish: St Andrew's in the town of Kirkcudbright, and St Bride's at Kirkbride. There was also near the town a Well of St Margaret. In Kirkcudbright the Grey Friars had a priory which was suppressed at the Reformation. In 1564 its priory church was made the church of the parish. The ruins of the church now standing in the churchyard belong to a rebuilding in 1730. A new church on a site in the middle of the town was built in 1838.

Galtway.—The church of Galtway was dedicated to St Michael. It belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood. Within the parish, and but a little way from the church, stood the Augustinian Priory of Trail dedicated to St Mary, and known as St Mary's Isle. Of it there are now hardly any traces left. It was founded in 1129 by Fergus, Lord of Galloway.

Dunrod.—The church of Dunrod was dedicated to St Brioch. It belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood.]

THOMAS BLACKLOCK, born at 1762 Annan, 10th Nov. 1721, son of John B., a Cumberland bricklayer. Before he was six months old he lost his sight from an attack of smallpox. In early life he removed to Dumfries, where Latin and English poetry were his favourite subjects of study. He wrote verses himself, and came under the notice of John Stevenson, an Edinburgh physician, who brought him to Edinburgh in 1741 (his father having been accidentally killed in the previous year). He studied at the Univ., and became an excellent classical scholar.

Licen. by Presb. of Dumfries 23rd Nov. 1758, he was pres. to this charge by George II. 10th June 1760. Because of his blindness, his admission was strenuously opposed by the parishioners, and the case finally reached the General Assembly, which ordered his settlement to take place. He was ord. 22nd April 1762; dem. 29th Nov. 1765, and returned to Edinburgh, where he set up a boarding establishment for young men, whose studies he supervised. He received the degree of D.D. from Aberdeen Univ. 4th May 1767; died 7th July 1791, and was buried in Buccleuch Church graveyard, Edinburgh. A letter from Blacklock to George Lawrie, min. of Loudoun, praising the newly published Poems of Robert Burns, and suggesting "for the sake of the young man, that a second edition, more numerous than the former, should be immediately printed," was the happy cause of the poet's putting aside thoughts of emigration, although his chest was already on its way to Greenock. "The Doctor," wrote Burns in his autobiography, "belonged to a class of critics for whose applause I had not even dared to hope. His idea that I would meet with every encouragement for a second edition fired me so much, that away I posted to Edinburgh without a single acquaintance in town, or a single letter of recommendation in my pocket." Dr Blacklock marr. in 1762, Sarah (died s.p. at Edinburgh, 6th May 1809), daugh. of Joseph Johnstone, surgeon, Dumfries. Publications—Poems on Several Occasions (Glasgow, 1746; another ed., Edinburgh, 1754); Poems [to which is prefixed an account of the life, character, and writings of the author, by Joseph Spence, Professor of Poetry at Oxford] (London, 1756); An Essay on Universal Etymology (Edinburgh, 1756); A Collection of Original Poems (Edinburgh, 1760); Faith, Hope, and Charity Compared, a sermon (Edinburgh, 1761); Paraclesis, or Consolations deduced from Natural and Revealed Religion (Edinburgh, 1767); Panegyric on Great Britain (London, 1773); The Graham: an heroic Ballad (London, 1774); Remarks on the Nature and Extent of Liberty as compatible (Scotch Preacher, ii.); Absence, a song (Edinburgh Magazine and Review, i.); articles "Blindness," "Poetry" (Encyclopædia Britannica); translations from the French of Armand, of two Discourses on the Spirit and Evidences of Christianity (Edinburgh, 1768). He was author of the Sixteenth Paraphrase, beginning In Life's Gay Morn; Poems, with an Essay on the Education of the Blind [with Life by Henry Mackenzie] (Edinburgh, 1793); he left in MS. (unpublished) a translation of the Abbé Haüy's work on Education of the Blind. —[Mackenzie's Life and Life of John Home; Wallace's Burns, i. 416, ii. 42, iii. 112, passim; Chambers's Cyclopædia of English Literature, ii., 438; Scots Mag., xxiii., liii.; *Dict. RERRICK, OR RERWICK, FORMERLY DUNDRENNAN.

[The church of this parish was dedicated to St Glastian, whose holy well is near. It belonged to the Abbey of Dundrennan, situated within the parish and close to the church. After the Reformation, part of the abbey building was made the parish church. When this ancient structure fell so far into decay as to be no longer suitable for the purpose, a new church was built adjoining the village of Rerrick, and very near the abbey. Until this change took place the parish was called Dundrennan, but since then it is generally termed Rerrick. While the church was within the abbey, both church and abbey were frequently spoken of as the Monkton. The Cistercian Abbey of Dundrennan, dedicated to St Mary, was founded in 1142 by Fergus, Lord of Galloway. Its buildings have been majestic, and, though greatly ruined, are still very stately.]

TONGLAND AND BALNACROSS.

[Tongland.—The parish of Tongland consists mainly of the tongue of land lying between the rivers Dee and Tarf. Its church belonged to the Abbey of Tongland, within the parish and close to the church. This Premonstratensian monastery was founded about 1150 by Fergus, Lord of Galloway. Upon the site of the abbey the old parish church of Tongland, now ruinous, was erected, and a portion of the Abbey Church was built into the new edifice. Except that part, there is very little of the monastery left; but, in the names of the places around, its memory survives. Thus on the Water of Dee there is the Priory Doach, a doach or cruive, for catching fish; and on the Water of Tarf is Lairdmanach (Leary nam manach =The flat ground of the monks). There were in the parish of Tongland two chapels: St Conal's, at Kirkconnel, and St Saviour's, near the Mains of Tongland, where for a long time there was a croft called the Chapel Yard.

Balnacross.—The church of Balnacross was dedicated to St Michael. It belonged to the Abbey of Holyrood.]

WILLIAM SHARP, exhorter in 1567; min. in 1574, when Sennick, Kirk-1574 andrews, Girthon, and Anwoth also were in the charge. He held the vicarage 7th Jan. 1586. In 1594 the only additional charges were Kirkchrist and Sennick, and of the vicarage of the last named he was deprived about 19th Feb. 1596. In 1599 the charge was reduced to Tongland and Balnacross. He was still min. in 1614. He marr. Elizabeth Corsane.—[Reg. of Deeds, civi., 33.]

JAMES SIMSON, M.A.; min. in 1618; 1618 trans. to Bathgate that year.

JAMES SCOTT, M.A.; trans. from 1619 Kirkton and adm. in 1619. He refused to subscribe the Covenant, and was dep. by a Committee of the General Assembly in 1639. He was min. again in 1663, but was trans. to Ancrum in 1665.

GEORGE RUTHERFORD [RUTHER-1640 FURD], a native of Nisbet, Teviotdale, brother of Samuel R., min. of Anwoth; M.A. (Edinburgh, 27th July 1622); became schoolmaster and reader at Kirkcudbright in 1629. In 1636 he was summoned before the Court of High Commission for nonconformity, and ordered to resign these offices. He retired to Ayrshire, and was min. of this parish about 1640; a member of the Commission of Assembly in 1647; died before 15th Dec. 1668. He is said to have presented the church bell which is still in use. He marr., and had issue—Marion (marr. Robert Hutton of Newlands); Barbara (marr., cont. 14th Dec. 1671, Robert, son of John Cutlar of Oroland); Martha (marr. John Black, merchant, Kirkcudbright); Samuel.—[Minute-book of the War Committee of Kirkcudbright, 1640-1; *Inq. Ret. SAMUEL ARNOT, brother of David 1661 A. of Barcaple (a member of the Stewartry War Committee, 1640-1); educated at Univ. of Glasgow; M.A. (1649); adm. in 1661; deprived by Act of Parliament 11th June, and Decreet of Privy Council 1st Oct. 1662. On 24th Feb. 1663, he was accused before the Privy Council of "still labouring to keep the hearts of the people from the present government in Church and State," and on two other occasions, 25th Jan. 1666 and 15th Aug. 1667, he was charged with holding conventicles. He was included in the royal pardon 1st Oct. 1667. On 16th June 1674 a reward of 2000 merks was offered for his apprehension, but evading capture, he went to England, and preached frequently in the counties of Cumberland and Northumberland, and afterwards in Ireland. He took part in the Communion service held at the Bishop's Forest of Irongray in 1678, when about 3000 persons were present [vide John Blackader, Troqueer]. He died at Edinburgh, 31st March 1688, aged about 59. He marr. Katherine, probably daugh. of John Cant, min. of Kells. She had sasine with him of the lands of Little-Bogrie, Little-Beoch, Breacko, etc., Nov. 1665, and had issue—David of Chapel; Margaret (marr. Thomas Orr); Mary (marr. 17th Dec. 1684, James Campbell, probably min. of Campbeltown).—[Wodrow's Hist., ii. 4, iii. 15, 413; Edin. Reg. (Marr. and Bur.); *Inq. Ret.
